Police Protect Ships Unloading Cargo At Seattle

As Steps Are Taken To Re-open Port To Traffic After Strike 400 Armed Guards Patrol Wharves; Strikers at Scene Total 200

Thousands of Tons In Several Cargoes

Seattle, June 20.—Unloading of cargo from strike-bound ships here today was delayed while steam was got up in the vessels so the winches could be used. Operators believed unloading, using non-union workers, would start late in the day.

Riding in a mile long caravan of taxicabs, trucks and buses, 400 armed police and deputy sheriffs went to Pier 40 at Smith Cove this forenoon to guard non-union longshoremen as Seattle attempted to open its harbor to waterborne commerce again.

About 100 non-union workmen were at the steamship Admiral Rogers, which will be used to house officers and the non-union workers. An additional 100 union men were on tug at Pier 40, protected by two coast-guard boats. A launch carrying strikers was cruising about the dock.

About 200 strikers gathered outside Pier 40 during the forenoon. The entire police force was massed at headquarters as shifts changed.

POLICE PREPARED

"We are not looking for trouble," Police Chief George F. Howard told his men, "but we are prepared for it. Some of you are armed with tear gas, some with guns. See that your guns are in good shape. But use them only as the last extremity for the protection of life and property."

A strike council was appointed in this city a week ago. The man at the head of it is one of the most prominent Communists on the Pacific Coast. That is all.

The freighter Everett has 2,000 tons of cargo aboard. After the Everett it was planned to unload the Admiral Chase of the Pacific Steamship Company with 1,000 tons from California, followed by the three President ships of the American Mail Line, the McKinley, Grant and Jackson.

The American Mail Line planned to reload the President Grant and sail her for the Orient June 30. The vessel has 5,000 tons of cargo from the Orient while the McKinley and Jackson have 2,000 tons each. A few police were stationed at Todd dry docks.

INCENDIARISM INVESTIGATED

Cortez Island Fires Alarms Residents Who Await Fire Bug's Next Move

Investigation of the fires which destroyed the Seaford school house, four residences and a thirty-foot gas boat, on Cortez Island is proceeding under the direction of the provincial police, who have definitely attributed the outbreaks to the work of a firebug.

The fires all occurred during the last month and from reports supplied headquarters here it would appear that suspicious circumstances have surrounded all outbreaks on the island in the last two years.

It has reached the stage now, it was stated, where residents of the island are wondering whether their homes will be the next to succumb to the efforts of the incendiary.

Police are keeping a close check on several clues which have developed and are reported to have linked one man with the crime and his activities are being investigated.

The recent fires claimed the school house, a shack at Blind Creek and two shacks and a boat on the beach, all belonging to Andrew Byer, and a house owned by K. R. Rousseau, of Salt Spring Island.

Hitler Declines to Let Von Papen Resign

Associated Press

Berlin, June 20.—Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen, it was revealed today, offered his resignation from the German government to Chancellor Hitler, following his Sunday speech in which he attacked certain phases of the Nazi regime.

Hitler flatly declined to permit his critic to quit his trusted position. The resignation, it was said on highest authority, was tendered in order the Chancellor might not be embarrassed.

M.P.'s MAY GO HOME NEXT WEEK

Ottawa, June 20.—Prorogation possibilities were discussed at a government party caucus to-day, and it is understood no hope was entertained Parliament could efficiently complete its work by Saturday, but that members might reasonably expect to get their dismissal next week.

WORKS PLAN INADEQUATE

Federal Scheme Will Not Meet B.C. Situation; Victoria Is Slighted

The much-publicized "public works programme" of the federal government, announced yesterday evening by Premier Bennett, is entirely inadequate for this province. Feeling in Victoria is very critical of the government in giving Victoria but $136,000, which is less than Nanaimo is to receive and far below the appropriation for New Westminster.

Vancouver is to receive $1,254,000. It is believed strong protests will be sent to Ottawa.

Although the provincial authorities did not comment directly on the scheme, there was an unmistakable feeling the extent of the works and the wages they will provide is too meagre.

Premier Pattullo has consistently advocated in the last six months the expenditure of at least $200,000,000 on the national credit to bring about creation of jobs and circulation of money. This would have given British Columbia about $14,000,000 on a population basis, and would create enough work to make a substantial dent in the relief lists.

The programme as outlined from Ottawa gives this province about $2,000,000, which is far short of what, in normal times, the provincial government itself would spend on its regular works.

The federal authorities have announced they will continue relief contributions until July 15, when, presumably, the works will be under way, but in this province the jobs listed, even when augmented by provincial works, will not absorb any great percentage of those who are out of work.

A cursory calculation shows that the works would give employment for 200 days to about 5 per cent of the jobless in British Columbia. At the most, extravagant estimate not more than $1,500,000 of the money would be paid in wages. If $4 a day was paid it would give one year's work to 1,875 men.

In face of this, relief officials this morning pointed out there are approximately 40,000 able-bodied men on the dole lists who could go to work. And what is more, the jobs laid down in the federal programme would employ to a large extent skilled laborers who are not on relief at all.

ECONOMIC COUNCIL IN SESSION HERE

With a mass of statistics, obtained from Ottawa, the Provincial Bureau of Information and publicity bureaus in Victoria and Vancouver, the Economic Council, under the chairmanship of Dr. W. A. Carrothers, this morning assembled to study, among other things, the tourist business of British Columbia. The council hopes to discover what can be done to stimulate the traffic.

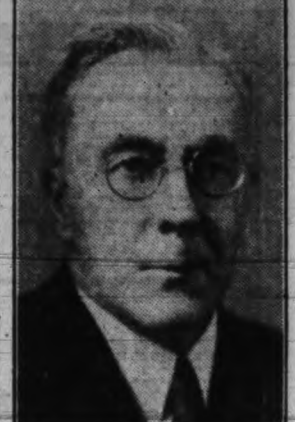

On its agenda the council also had such matters as forest conservation, land utilization and employment stimulation which the staff has been working on for several months.

BOXER ARRESTED

Vancouver, June 20.—Frank A. Gloyer, twenty-one, boxer, was held to-day by Vancouver police on a warrant issued by Portland police nearly a year ago. The nature of the charge was unknown to police here.

A heavyweight fighter, was arrested yesterday evening just after he stepped from the ring at the auditorium, where he had taken a three-round decision from Charles Buskins of Vancouver.

MAY JOIN NEW PRAIRIE CABINET

An unofficial forecast 10-day in Regina of the Cabinet Premier-elect Gardiner will form in Saskatchewan, said W. F. Kerr, above, Regina editor, elected as a Liberal in Regina yesterday, probably would be Minister of Public Works and Telephones.

Chiropractors' Board Named

Thomas Mercer Is Victoria Representative; Seven Are Chosen

The board of seven persons who will administer the Chiropractors' Act in British Columbia was appointed this morning by the provincial government.

The Victoria representative on the body is Thomas Mercer, 612 View Street.

Others were chosen representing different parts of the province, and include several of those who fought for legal recognition for the profession over a long period of years. They are: Walter Sturdy, 401 Vancouver Block, Vancouver; Peter D. Carr, 3rd Avenue, Prince George; Ernest W. Prowse, Vernon; Thomas A. Patterson, 125 East 15th Street, North Vancouver; Almond E. Harper, 3046 24th Avenue, Vancouver; and John A. Gray, 657 18th Avenue, New Westminster.

This board will choose an examination board of three which will then pass upon applications by chiropractors desiring to practice in the province.

Province Unifies Welfare Services Under New Head

Dr. Harry M. Cassidy, Professor of Sociology at Toronto University, Accepts Position Here; Scientific Basis for Social Work; State Health Insurance To Be Investigated

A move to consolidate the welfare services of the province under one head has been made by the provincial government, which to-day announced the appointment of Dr. Harry M. Cassidy of Toronto, an expert sociologist, to the new position of director of social welfare. This is part of the government's plan to put its social services on a scientific basis.

Dr. Cassidy, it was explained by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, will take over control of such matters as health, pensions and allied subjects. In addition he will play a part in the government's investigation of state health insurance on which a start will be made shortly.

For the last six years Dr. Cassidy has been professor of sociology at the University of Toronto. He was born in Vancouver and is a graduate of the University of British Columbia.

In eastern Canada he is regarded as one of the best informed men in the Dominion on social problems such as state health insurance, mothers' pensions, unemployment insurance and similar matters. Last summer he lectured on unemployment problems at the Liberal summer school in Ontario.

CYCLIST DIES AFTER SMASH

R. Kawamura, Japanese, Received Fractured Skull in Collision With Car

R. Kawamura, 3668 Cedar Hill Road, Japanese, died in the Jubilee Hospital yesterday evening following an accident at 10:30 o'clock, when he was struck by a car at the intersection of Haultain Street and Cedar Hill Road.

His head was severely fractured and he passed away shortly after removal to the hospital in the police ambulance. Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, who attended him, stated an inquest would be held, probably on Friday.

The driver of the car was Bernard C. Gillie, Granville Avenue, a Spanish school teacher. According to a police report, Mr. Gillie was proceeding east on Haultain Street, near Fernwood, when his car struck the cyclist, who was riding north on Cedar Hill Road, with the right front fender.

The bicycle was carried fifty-eight feet, according to police measurements.

Driver James Strong and Constable Samuel McKenzie attended the scene of the accident and took the injured man to hospital.

A flashlight which might have been used by the Japanese was found near the scene, but it was not definitely determined if it was his. Mr. Gillie reported to police he did not see the cyclist before the collision.

CENTENARIAN IN ONTARIO VOTES

Toronto, June 20.—Probably the oldest voter to go to the polls in the Ontario general election yesterday was Mrs. Margaret McCallum of St. Thomas, who, in her 102nd year, said she had voted for Liberal Leader Mitchell F. Hepburn.

Mrs. Catharine Manning, ninety-nine, of Brantford, also insisted on using her franchise, as did ninety-seven-year-old William Scott of Galt.

Big Majorities In New Houses

Toronto, June 20.—The party standings in yesterday's Ontario general election to-day were as follows:

Canada Swings To Liberalism

Election Results in Two Provinces Show Tide Surging Forward

Results of the elections in Ontario and Saskatchewan yesterday were regarded in provincial circles as another step in the swing of the entire Dominion toward Liberalism and a direct answer to the Socialistic aims of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

In the last year four of the provinces have repudiated Conservative administrations and gone solidly Liberal. In addition the voters, have spoken in the federal field by turning down government supporters in by-elections and replacing them with Liberal representatives.

Just a year ago there was only one Liberal administration in Canada, the Taschereau government in Quebec. To-day the Conservatives have only two provinces left, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. Nova Scotia, British Columbia, Ontario and Saskatchewan have all completely turned; and in Manitoba and Alberta the governments are anti-Conservative.

This rising tide of Liberal thought is illustrated best in the following chronological tables:

August 22, 1933—Harrington Conservative government in Nova Scotia defeated by Liberals who elected twenty-two members against eight Conservatives.

October 23, 1933—Dominion by-elections in Mackenzie, Sask., Restigouche, Madawaska, N.B., and Yarmouth, N.S., returned three Liberals which included two gains from Conservatives and one from Progressives.

November 2, 1933—British Columbia turned down Conservative Tomin Government, elected Liberal administration with thirty-four members out of forty-seven.

Merger Planned For Express Companies Of The Dominion

Telegraph Systems of C.N.R. and C.P.R. Included in Bill Drafted for Introduction, Commons Informed By Manion

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 20.—A definite move toward amalgamation of the express and communication (telegraph) companies of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways was laid before the Commons committee on railways and shipping to-day, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, read a joint letter from E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., and Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board of the C.N.R., asking that enabling legislation be passed at the present session of Parliament. Dr. Manion said he proposed to introduce the necessary legislation late to-day.

The proposal, now being closely studied, would be to form two separate subsidiary companies embodying the express companies and the other the telegraphs. It was emphasized that final decision to take this step had not been reached and this step had not been reached and this step had not been reached.

Send them to the new editor as soon as possible with particulars as to name, age, parents and the locality where the picture was taken.

Ontario—Saskatchewan Elections Show Swing Is Country-wide, Says Leader

Liberal Victories in Two Provinces Are Proof of Desire for Liberal Principles in Dominion as Well as Provincial Fields, Declares Mr. King

In a statement on the great Liberal victories in the Ontario and Saskatchewan general elections, Mr. King said:

"To much credit cannot be given to Mr. Hepburn for the results which have been achieved by the Liberals in the province of Ontario. More than all else, his fearless, energetic and persistent campaign is responsible for the uprooting of the Tory machine in this province."

"In Saskatchewan, the same may also be said of Mr. Gardiner's leadership. He, too, has fearlessly and ceaselessly opposed an extremely partisan executive, which, during the last four years in Saskatchewan, as in Ontario, has worked continuously in conjunction with the government at Ottawa in enforcing an arbitrary and autocratic administration of public affairs."

FEDERAL ISSUES

"In the recent provincial campaigns, federal issues were quite as much to the fore as provincial. Federal ministers and prime ministers participated in the campaigns. The overwhelming Liberal victories in Ontario and Saskatchewan following similar victories in Nova Scotia and British Columbia, are therefore to be regarded as expressive of the impatience of the electorate with Tory governments generally and of a nationwide desire for a speedy return to Liberal principles and policies."

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, federal Liberal leader.

Combining the results of the federal by-elections during the last three years, it is impossible not to see the full significance of these Liberal sweeps in all parts of Canada."

STATEMENT BY HEPBURN

St. Thomas, Ont., June 20.—"I will accept the responsibility of forming a Liberal government and will endeavor to carry out reforms I have advocated on every platform throughout Ontario," said Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader, in a brief statement on the great victory of his party in the Ontario general election.

"I will endeavor to give clean, honest administration to the people of this province who have demonstrated so magnificently their confidence in the Liberal Party."

Seated in the kitchen of the St. Thomas Masonic Temple, Mr. Hepburn, yesterday evening, watched a telegraph operator copy figures that told of the Liberal landslide.

ROOSEVELT LIKES BRAINTRUSTERS

Associated Press

New Haven, Conn., June 20.—President Roosevelt told Yale alumni to-day the "brain trust" was in the government to stay.

"Ability rather than politics enters into most choices made in Washington," said Mr. Roosevelt, who addressed the annual alumni luncheon after Yale had conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

"The use of brains in government seems to me a good practice. It will be continued. We are going to call on trained people."

LONGSHOREMEN TO LOAD AIRPLANE

Los Angeles, June 20.—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, transatlantic flier, will be able to take his new plane home to Australia with him when the liner Mariposa sails from Los Angeles harbor June 27. By special resolution the Longshoremen's Association, on strike, has agreed to assist in loading the craft on the steamer.

Sir Charles and his wife will take the plane to Australia. From there he plans to tune it up by flying nearly 12,000 miles to London, England. Next October he hopes to compete in the London to Melbourne race.

WILL BE CALLED TO FORM CABINET

James G. Gardiner, Premier-elect of Saskatchewan

Regina, June 20.—"Democracy always finally triumphs when parties play fair," said James G. Gardiner, Premier-elect of Saskatchewan, speaking of the Liberal Party's victory in yesterday's provincial general election.

"The decision of the people is Liberalism's opportunity. My hope is that we can measure up to it."

Mr. Gardiner to-day received a flood of congratulations on the great Liberal success.

CHEERED BY THOUSANDS

After rushing to Regina by plane from his own constituency of Melville, Mr. Gardiner was given a tumultuous reception as he drove through the capital's streets yesterday evening en route to Liberal headquarters to learn of his party's overwhelming victory.

The Liberal chieftain was preceded by a pipe band and thousands of cheering citizens. On his lapel was a brilliant cluster of geraniums and his face was all smiles.

"I have been making speeches for the last six weeks, but I am not going to make one to-night," he declared. He voiced appreciation of the fine co-operation of his lieutenants and the whole-hearted approval expressed by the electorate. His party placed principals before victory, and was prepared to carry them out.

ONLY THREE MINISTERS RE-ELECTED

So complete was the rout in the two provinces that only three cabinet ministers were re-elected. Dr. Anderson, who had been elected down to defeat with him in the mid-prairie province, in Ontario Premier George S. Henry found only Attorney-General W. H. Price, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways and Provincial Secretary George H. Chalmers surviving the Liberal storm.

Mr. Henry was returned in York East with a comfortable majority over his most serious opponent, Harry Sanders, Liberal. Mr. Price's majority in Toronto-Parkdale was cut from 4,000 in 1929 to 253 yesterday. Mr. Chalmers piled up a majority of 1,300 in Grenville-Dundas and Mr. Macaulay was re-elected in York South by a greatly reduced majority.

Liberal Members At Ottawa Celebrate

Political Feeling of Parliament Runs High After Ontario-Saskatchewan Elections

Ottawa, June 20.—Political feeling ran at flood-tide on Parliament Hill to-day as the federal legislators went on with the work of bringing their session to a close. The Liberals were in a jubilant mood as a result of the sweeping victories of their party in the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections yesterday and Conservatives on the whole were silent. Scenes of the wildest enthusiasm were enacted by the Liberal members of the House of Commons yesterday evening when it became clear the Liberal party had secured the election in Ontario and news of the Liberal victory in Saskatchewan came in.

PARADED TO BAGPIPES

A procession headed by William Duff, Liberal member for Antigonish-Guyaboro, N.B., was rapidly joined, with Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster, furnishing music on his bagpipes, the Liberal members paraded through the corridors of the Parliament Building to the strains of the "Cock o' the North."

Electors of Ontario Give Liberals 65 Seats in New Legislature to 25 for All Others; Saskatchewan Elects 49 Liberals and Five Farmer-Laborites, With One Deferred Polling

By Elmer DuMagne, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, June 20.—Liberalism strung its banners across Ontario and Saskatchewan to-day and prepared to take back the reins of government from Conservative hands. The electorates spoke emphatically and as with a single voice in the two general provincial elections yesterday. One humbled the Conservative administration of Ontario for its second fall in twenty-nine years.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, thirty-seven-year-old Elgin County farmer who as yet has not sat in the Ontario Legislature, led his Liberal forces to a stunning triumph, capturing sixty-five out of the ninety seats in the province. In the last Legislature the Liberals held sixteen out of 112 seats.

The other body of voters ushered James G. Gardiner to the premiership of Saskatchewan after a five-year period in opposition. From J. T. M. Anderson's Conservative Co-operative government was not only ousted—it was shut out. The latest available returns to-day indicated there would not be a single Conservative in the next House.

In the Legislature of fifty-five seats, Mr. Gardiner already has a following of forty-eight, and will have forty-nine if the Liberal is successful in the deferred election in Athabasca where voting will take place July 24. The meagre opposition will be made up of five Farmer-Labor members, who were supported by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

ONLY THREE MINISTERS RE-ELECTED

So complete was the rout in the two provinces that only three cabinet ministers were re-elected. Dr. Anderson, who had been elected down to defeat with him in the mid-prairie province, in Ontario Premier George S. Henry found only Attorney-General W. H. Price, Hon. DOUBLE DEATH MYSTERY HUNT

Body of Woman at Brighton, Eng., Unidentified; Baby's Body Found

Canadian Press

Brighton, Eng., June 20.—Brighton police to-day announced the woman whose torso was found in the local railway station in a trunk would have become a mother in five months and that "pregnancy" undoubtedly provided the motive for the crime.

The announcement followed a coroner's inquest on the death of the woman whose dismembered legs were found in London and whose head and arms are still missing, soon after another gruesome discovery in the same Brighton railway station—the body of a stillborn baby.

STILL UNIDENTIFIED

Both the woman and the baby are still unidentified, despite efforts by Scotland Yard, assisted by Sir Bernard Spilsbury of the Home Office, Europe's most famous criminologist.

TURNOVER AT PRAIRIE POLLS

By George Finlay, Canadian Press

Regina, June 20.—The Liberal Party, whose victory at the polls in Saskatchewan yesterday ousted the Conservative government, continued to gain strength as the vote in doubtful constituencies was made known today. Returns from country polls came slowly, and it will be several days before final figures for all ridings are known.

The Liberals, led by James G. Gardiner, returning back to power after a five years absence from office, had gained five more seats this morning, boosting their total to forty-nine.

FARMER-LABORITES

The Farmer-Labor Party, whose leader, M. J. Caldwell, Regina schoolmaster, returned to his classes this morning after his defeat at the polls yesterday, added two seats to its meagre total. The new party, affiliated with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, elected five members to the Legislature of fifty-five members.

The five seats that swung to the Liberals this morning were Biggar, Melrose, Last Mountain, Shellbrook and Melfort.

NO CONSERVATIVE ELECTED

Not one Conservative or Independent supporter was returned in yesterday's polling. Premier Anderson going down with the rest. In the election of June 6, 1929, Anderson followed by Premier Anderson were returned, with eleven Progressives and Independent members who supported his administration. The Liberals elected twenty-eight members in the house of sixty-three. The redistribution act, adopted by the Legislature in 1932, changed a number of constituency boundaries and reduced the house membership to fifty-five. In 1929 the Liberals held fifty-one of the sixty-three seats.

At dissolution this year, May 17, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation had thirty-two members, including Progressive and Independent supporters; the Liberals twenty-six, with five seats vacant.

GREAT MAJORITIES

The Liberals won their election fight with huge majorities, running into thousands in many constituencies, and several opposing candidates will lose their deposits.

Both of Liberal Leader Gardiner's opponents were out of their deposits. In Melville, the Liberal total vote of 4,921, defeating E. F. Schatz, Conservative, by a majority of nearly 3,000, and had 3,500 more votes than W. W. Farmer-Laborite.

Election writs are returnable June 28, and following the posting of the official returns with the clerk of the Executive Council, Mr. Gardiner will be called on to form a government.

Polling will be held July 14 in the far northern riding of Athabasca, completing the polling in the fifty-two constituencies where Liberal candidates won yesterday, are two-member seats.

GREATER EFFICIENCY

"In the interests of economy and greater efficiency, the government has come to the conclusion that some of the work of the various institutions under the Provincial Secretary's department might be unified to advantage," Dr. Weir said. "It is probable that some unnecessary overlapping exists at present. At the same time it should be stated that the officials in the various institutions doubtless give their best services in the public interest. The appointment of Dr. Cassidy is no reflection on these officials."

"When it is realized that the number of institutions that come under the Provincial Secretary's department and that no responsible minister could possibly find time, in the midst of his numerous other duties, to supervise satisfactorily the details connected with the administration of all these institutions, the need for an expert and highly-trained director should be obvious. Costs must be considered in the light of results if real economy is to be achieved."

"Under the Provincial Secretary's Department, health matters in general, including hospital grants as well as the numerous problems incident to public health, mental hospitals at Esquimalt and Colquhoun, the institution for the feeble-minded at New Westminster, the colony farm at Esquimalt, the Tranquille Sanatorium and farm at Kamloops for the treatment of tuberculosis, the Provincial Home, the Boys' and Girls' Industrial School and the Provincial Home for incurables. The library, printing bureau and museum are also under this department, but scarcely matters pertaining to public health. Then, too, there is the welfare branch, including mothers' pensions and the care of neglected children, obviously matters of vital importance. The question of state health insurance is also to be brought to the present time and will involve a great deal of time and study."

"These and other miscellaneous services, involving considerable expenditures, should be coordinated in such a fashion that overlapping and waste are, so far as possible, eliminated. In the judgment of the government, a capable and alert supervisor would not only increase efficiency of administration but ultimately save the taxpayers by the reduction of many times his salary and incidental expenses. Such a man would spend much of his time in field work."

Dr. Cassidy will start his service with the province by going to Europe for July and August to study latest developments there in the field of social welfare.

AWAITED GENERAL ELECTION

On Nov. 13, 1933, Mr. Hepburn declared the proposal of Premier George S. Henry that the government would not oppose the Liberal leader if he ran in the East Kent by-election, then pending. He awaited the Ontario general election, which was held on Feb. 26, 1933, during a Legislature session when he resigned his seat in the House of Commons and was nominated for the provincial house in the redistributed constituency of Elgin. His opponent was H. J. Davis, Conservative member for East Elgin in the last Legislature.

Born at St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 12, 1889, Mitchell F. Hepburn is the son of William Frederick Hepburn and his wife, who was Miss Margaret Fulton, both Canadian born and of Scotch-Irish descent. He was educated at the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute and LaSalle Extension University. After three years in a bank he went into agriculture near St. Thomas. He served as a lieutenant in the Canadian Infantry and afterwards in the Royal Air Force in 1918.

For three years Mr. Hepburn was secretary of the East Elgin branch of the United Farmers of Canada. When in 1926 he redeemed West Elgin for the Liberals by a majority of 178, that Dominion constituency had been in the Conservative column for twenty-two years. In 1930 he increased his majority to 1,437.

In 1918 Mr. Hepburn married Miss Evelyn Mitchell of Fingert, Ont. He is a member of the Masonic Order, the Knights of Pythias and the United Church of Canada.

At present Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, whose son, Robert, is now in the military service, is the Conservative member for the constituency. He was elected in September, 1933, as Canada's youngest premier, with his forty-fourth birthday coming August 10. He will lose that distinction when a Herald born in his cabinet in Ontario, for Mr. Hepburn will be thirty-eight years of age on August 12 next.

DOUBLE DEATH MYSTERY

The inquest definitely established the torso was unmarked by an operation, and the body was found in a trunk Sunday night, creating England's most gruesome murder mystery in years.

NOT CONNECTED
Police announced later the baby was born dead and the body had been deposited in the checkroom February 24. They said they did not believe it was connected with the woman's disappearance.

An urgent Scotland Yard broadcast this morning disclosed authorities were convinced the women whose body had been dismembered was the same as the woman slain within the last three weeks.

"It is of the utmost importance the identity of the woman be established within the next twenty-four hours," said Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan for four and a half years, speaking of the general election yesterday in which his government went down to defeat before the Liberals.

"It is gratifying to know our people have just as decisively rejected Socialism."

"I trust the new government will experience less difficult times than those faced by the government during the past five years of unprecedented adversity."

LEUTENANTS ELECTED

The chief lieutenants of Mr. Hepburn, who only recently resigned his seat in the House of Commons to lead the provincial Liberals, gained election without a hitch. The Premier-elect immediately made known his intention to appoint Mitchell F. Hepburn, former Alberta Minister of Agriculture, to that post in the new Ontario cabinet.

RECORD VOTE

With many thousands of votes still to be tabulated from various ridings, Ontario had established a new record for the number of votes cast. It was estimated early to-day that 1,211,591 voters had marked ballots yesterday compared with 1,146,521 in 1926 and 1,014,890 in 1929.

Premier Henry heard the news of his government's downfall and wired Mr. Hepburn: "Congratulations. I will give you my assistance in taking over the reins of government."

By W. R. Wheatley, Canadian Press

Toronto, June 20.—After an absence of twenty-nine years from administrative control in the Ontario political arena, the Liberal Party under the leadership of youthful Mitchell F. Hepburn came back into legislative power to-day on a record-breaking vote rolled up by the electorate and a smashing defeat of Premier George S. Henry's Conservative government in the polling yesterday.

Sixty-five seats out of a total of ninety were captured in the Liberal upsurge, from eighty-four members the number held out of 112 ridings before redistribution—the Conservatives dropped precipitately to seventeen. Liberals ran up their total from fifteen in the last house.

Returns compiled by the Canadian Press, though still incomplete to-day, showed a total of 1,211,591 votes cast, eclipsing the old mark of 1,146,521 in 1926. In the 1929 election 1,011,890 votes were cast.

The early Liberal trend, seen immediately in the polls closed yesterday evening, gathered surprising momentum and swept the province. Two hours after the voting had stopped the Canadian Press flashed the Liberal victory. In another hour the Liberals had an actual majority of the ninety seats and the Conservative debacle was complete with that party trailing helplessly.

Four Liberal-Progressives, expected to align themselves with Mr. Hepburn's party, were victorious. In the same category were one Independent, one United Farmers member and one Labor-Liberal.

ONE C.C.F. MEMBER

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, making its first bid for political recognition in Ontario, returned one member—in Hamilton East—out of thirty-seven candidates placed in the field.

The swelling tide of Liberal votes swept fifty seats from Conservative territory. It lashed traditionally " Tory Toronto" and split it in twain. Eight out of twelve members of the Henry cabinet went down to defeat. Premier Henry held a safe margin of victory over the opposition in York East, while Premier-designate Hepburn was an early winner in Elgin over his only opponent, Dr. H. J. Davis, a Conservative member in the last Legislature.

MINISTERS DEFEATED

Cabinet members who suffered defeat were Hon. Charles McCrear, Minister of Mines, in Sudbury; Hon. W. Martin, Minister of Public Works, in York North; Hon. J. P. MacBride, Independent, was victorious; Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, in Peel; Hon. Paul Gordon, J. M. Robb, Minister of Health, in Algoma-Manitowish; Hon. H. C. Schofield, Minister without portfolio, in Toronto-St. George. Survivors of the Conservative cabinet in addition to Premier Henry are Hon. G. H. Callies, Provincial Secretary, returned in Grenville-Dundas; Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, in York South; and Hon. W. Price, Attorney-General, in Toronto Parkdale.

IN TOWN AND COUNTRY

The Liberal onslaught attacked urban and rural ridings alike. Loss of six seats in the solid phalanx of Conservatives was a real blow to the Conservative cause. Seven were retained by the Premier's adherents in a bitter struggle in city constituencies where a strong C.C.F. vote was making itself felt.

In the suburban York constituency, honors were divided with two seats each to Conservatives and Liberals.

Windsor-Sandwich and Windsor-Walkerville each returned a Liberal member.

Liberals were elected in Hamilton Centre, Hamilton-Wentworth and honors were even in Ottawa but in the smaller cities and in the rural constituencies seat after seat fell to the Liberal advance. Conservatives were elected in only seven ridings outside of Toronto and the adjoining Yorks.

In the whole province only thirty-five seats among all parties remained unchanged, and the Liberal sweep gave the new premier a majority of forty over all other parties combined.

The result of the election sent Liberal supporters into a wild joyous demonstration. Successful candidates spoke their thanks and pleasure to celebrating throngs. Parades formed and bands blared; there were endless handshaking and back-slapping.

REFORMS TO THE MIND

St. Thomas, in the Elgin riding where Mr. Hepburn was elected, put on a show for the Premier-designate. The thirty-eight-year-old leader who featured his campaign with a call for reduced expenditures and economy in government, charging maladministration to the Henry regime, told the cheering throng the old government had outlived its usefulness. He said he would throw out the old regime and have discussed during the campaign, and declared he had been subjected to a "campaign of vilification and belittlement" during the last three weeks.

PREMIER HENRY'S STATEMENT

Toronto, June 20.—"I attribute the defeat of the government to three causes," said Premier George S. Henry in a statement to the Canadian Press yesterday. "The first was the general election yesterday in which the Liberals scored a great victory over the Conservative administration."

First, there was the depression which was thrown out of the out of work, and caused others to lose their

Saskatchewan Election Brings J. G. Gardiner Back to Post He Formerly Held

The Liberal victory in Saskatchewan was a triumph for the premier, J. G. Gardiner, for the second time. He served as government head from February 26, 1926, till Sept. 6, 1929. Mr. Gardiner was born at Parryville, Ont., in 1863, of Scottish parents. He was educated at the Thames Road public school, in Ontario; Lincoln, Nebraska public school; Clearwater, Man., intermediate school; the Regina normal school and Manitoba College, Winnipeg. He was farming at Qu'Appelle, Sask., when he entered the political field, being elected to the Legislature June 25, 1914. He has been a member of the Assembly ever since.

Bank Robbers Hold Off Oklahoma Citizens, But Cannot Lift Safe

Guthrie, Okla., June 20.—Seven outlaws invaded the town of Crescent, near here, and held off scores of citizens for nearly an hour early to-day while they unsuccessfully tried to steal the safe of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank.

Failing to obtain any loot, they drove away with a half-dozen kidnapped persons, soon releasing all but one, Nightwatchman Joe Stanfield, forty-six.

The gunmen swept into town shortly after 2 a.m., cut the telephone lines, rounded up every one they encountered and backed a new winch-equipped truck up to the front of the bank. The plateglass window was shattered and a cable looped about the safe, containing $2,000.

They swung the safe through the window to the sidewalk with a great crash. Startled citizens who ran to the scene were held at bay by outlaws armed with sawed-off shotguns. Unable to boost the 5,000-pound safe to the truck, the desperadoes gave it up as a bad job, jumped into their truck and small sedan with their captives and sped out of town.

WORKS PLANS ARE STUDIED

Bill Embracing All Provinces Given First Reading in Commons

Ottawa, June 20.—Only a mild exchange of subtleties marked the adoption of a resolution and the introduction and first reading in the House of Commons yesterday evening of "the Public Works Construction Act of 1934," the long expected programme of relief work which will involve Federal Government expenditures of slightly less than $40,000,000.

Prime Minister Bennett presented the legislation to the House in the absence of Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works.

By the expenditure of the money involved, Mr. Bennett said, it was proposed to give employment to as large numbers of persons in as many walks of human activity as might be possible.

The measure provides payments will be made out of consolidated revenue and stipulates that all projects of $25,000 or over must be offered for public tender. Projects involving less amounts may be given out without tender under certain emergency circumstances and certain conditions laid down.

MOST TO ONTARIO

It is proposed Ontario will get the lion's share, about $10,000,000. The following are approximate figures for the other provinces:

Quebec $9,000,000, New Brunswick $2,500,000, Nova Scotia $2,780,000, Manitoba $2,400,000, British Columbia $2,000,000, Alberta $1,700,000, Saskatchewan $675,000 and Prince Edward Island $100,000.

In addition there is an amount for public buildings generally, aids to navigation, Harbors and rivers, Indian affairs and department of interior, totalling about $7,500,000.

Larger cities shares as follows: Quebec $1,300,000, Toronto $1,466,000, Hamilton $1,790,000, Windsor $600,000, London $1,500,000, Winnipeg $1,750,000, Victoria $1,950,000, Vancouver $1,254,000, Regina $400,000, Calgary $1,200,000, Edmonton $300,000.

THE PEOPLE'S VOICE

IT IS PLAIN THAT ELECTORS OF ONtario and Saskatchewan wanted a change of government. It was generally expected that Saskatchewan, traditionally Liberal since the establishment of the province in 1905, would return the party led by former Premier Gardiner, but outsiders, while expecting changes in Ontario, did not look for such a sweeping Liberal victory in the Conservative stronghold of Canada.

As this is written, however, Ontario has elected sixty-six Liberals, sixteen Conservatives, four Liberal-Progressives, and four representatives of four other parties. In the case of Saskatchewan there is a similar change. The next Legislature will be composed of fifty-five members, and the latest returns give Mr. Gardiner forty-seven, with Liberals leading in two other constituencies, and not a Conservative in sight. Under redistribution, the number of seats in Ontario was reduced from 112 to ninety; in Saskatchewan it was reduced from sixty-three to fifty-five. Athabasca's election is deferred until July 24.

It is obvious that the entry of Premier Bennett and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Dominion government, into the Ontario campaign did not influence the voters in the least. The Prime Minister and his aide made much of the Marketing Bill and the Stevens probe; but all the eleventh-hour blandishments of the federal Ministers were impotent.

It is surprising that the C.C.F. did not elect more members, especially in Saskatchewan. The party's leader is very popular in Regina and the aggressive nature of his campaign seemed to assure for him at least a seat in the next Parliament, even though his following was likely to be not numerous enough to permit him to form a government. The failure of any Conservative to be elected is also remarkable.

The decision of the voters in Ontario and Saskatchewan yesterday is a definite intimation to the Bennett government that it should hold a general election forthwith. At present there are only two of the nine provinces of Canada with Conservative governments—Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. While the government at Ottawa has a comfortable working majority, by-elections which have been held in the last twelve months have expressed a strong adverse trend.

Ontario's verdict yesterday, incidentally, reminds us that the government which Mr. Hepburn will be called upon to form will be the first Liberal administration in that province since the regime of Hon. G. W. Ross, who left office in February, 1905. Since then, with the exception of the Drury Farmer administration from 1919 to 1923, the province has been governed by the Conservative party.

Mr. Hepburn, leader of the victorious Liberals, will be the youngest Premier in Canada. He was born in 1896. Premier Henry used up a lot of breath in alluding to him as "Young Mr. Hepburn" as if he were a babe in swaddling clothes, but this young man seems to have made an impression on the electors of Ontario.

VICTORIA GETS A SLAP

 gramme of public works to relieve unemployment as announced by the Prime Minister in the House of Commons yesterday evening is sharply disappointing, as far as this province is concerned, while the appropriation for Victoria and its immediate neighborhood is small enough to be contemptible. British Columbia's share of the $40,000,000 to be voted for this purpose works out at $2,000,000, of which Vancouver will draw more than sixty per cent. Victoria and Saanich will receive $136,000, or a little more than a tenth of the amount which is to be expended in Vancouver.

Apparently the bright minds at Ottawa which devised this precious scheme used the last census figures as a basis of distribution with such reservations as suited their purpose. By some legerdemain which Mr. Plunkett, Victoria's member in the House of Commons, might explain when he returns, we have the startling discovery that not only are Vancouver's needs ten times as large as those of Greater Victoria, but that Nanaimo is entitled to a bigger proportion of the total than this locality. We do not begrudge Nanaimo a solitary cent of the amount allocated to it—more power to it—but why pick on Victoria? Are we to assume that Mr. Bennett thinks this city is such a political cinch that he does not deem it necessary to treat it with even elementary fairness?

Of all the important communities of Canada, Victoria receives the least under the latest Ottawa dispensation, and our city council, the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies interested in Victoria's welfare are entitled to ask why this should be so. We suggest to those organizations that they commission Mr. Plunkett to advise Mr. Bennett that Victoria's appropriation is entirely unsatisfactory, and that where this city is concerned the last man to whom he should listen is the Hon. Harry Stevens, his Minister of Trade and Commerce, who controls matters of this kind for British Columbia, and who thinks it good tactics to try to climb back into the good graces of the electorate of Vancouver by penalizing Victoria.

WHAT YOUTH THINKS

A REVIEW OF REPORTS FROM ALL over the country, covering the views of boys and girls being graduated from high schools, should be more embarrassing than surprising to the generation that is passing.

For, although these reports reveal a seriousness toward life which we older persons used to feel in our teens, they also point to the fact that youth to-day is much more frank and liberal and sophisticated than their parents cared to be.

Only recently a prominent lecturer before high school students and parent-teacher associations finished a speaking tour of the country, in which she collected a number of highly illuminating questions that the girls and boys put to her—in writing, of course—after each of her talks.

The questions revealed a frankness, a seriousness, an endeavor to know what life is all about, that opened the eyes of even this experienced lecturer.

In other words, the general run of questions seemed to direct both a challenge and an indictment toward the older generation. The challenge—that youth to-day stands as ready to face the problems of life as their parents did in their day. The indictment—that fathers and mothers have failed, as did their own parents, in the proper mental and physical development of their children.

It is most embarrassing to find youngsters of high school age revealing the fact that they have been thinking of things that their parents had planned to tell them some years hence. It is embarrassing, too, that these youngsters should go to a stranger for information that their parents should have given them.

But it is encouraging and stimulating to know that youth does think seriously along a line that promises a much better generation to come.

A GRAVE WARNING

IF SOME OF THE DIE-HARDS IN THE

British Parliament had their way, India would have to wait a long time for even that further measure of self-government which the British famous "White Paper" is intended to give that great country. The other day, however, they received a grave warning from Sir John Thompson, who was in the Indian Civil Service from 1892 to 1932, and political secretary to the government of India from 1922 to 1927, when he addressed a meeting, organized by the Union of India and Britain at Bristol. In effect, he says, whittle down the "White Paper" and unexamined trouble will follow.

The die-hards claim that the "White Paper" will hand everything over, says Sir John, "that is their copyright phrase." They argue that "by a stroke of the pen" the government will establish a full-fledged democracy. He then goes on:

What do you think of this for full-fledged democracy? The Ministers will have the spending of twenty to twenty-five per cent of the central revenues. They will not control defence and foreign affairs, which will be under the Governor-General. They will not without the Governor-General's permission be able to touch those thorny subjects of currency and exchange. They will not have the control of payments on account of loans, the pay of the principal services or their pensions, and they will not have the administration of the railways. They will not be able to amend the constitution, and if they menace the interests which are to be specially committed to the Governor-General's charge they will find that he has ample resources of persuasion and of power to protect them.

"Can you wonder," Sir John asks, "that while the die-hards talk of complete surrender, their Congress allies in India should exclaim that the concessions made by the 'White Paper' are not worth having?" But he points out that there is a tremendous difference between giving less than they ask for and less than they think they have been offered. The one will produce disappointment; the other fury.

Here is this distinguished authority's final warning: "Everyone who knows India knows that there has been little peace in the country for the past twenty years, but if less than the 'White Paper' is given to India I am convinced that we shall have to face something more vehement than we have ever known before. Trade will again have a setback. Great mass movements will revive and we shall be plunged back again into a furnace of turmoil seven times hotter than we have known."

The Manchester Guardian says of this warning: "If it comes to competition in forebodings of gloom, Sir John Thompson is the man we would have the country listen to." It agrees that it is a grave warning, "but it is made with a full sense of responsibility, and there are few members even of the cabinet who, in private at least, would contest it."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

SHOULD HAVE BEEN CANCELLED
 The Brantford Expositor

Every year it becomes apparent that Great Britain was right to the close of the war when she offered to cancel all the war debts due to her if the United States would agree to cancel the amount which Britain had undertaken on behalf of her allies to pay the United States. The advice of expert economists, however, has been completely ignored through the years with the result that a state of chaos exists to-day.

FIFTY YEARS IN FIFTY WORDS
 The Winnipeg Free Press

In a competition, offering $25 holiday money for the best answer written on a postcard to the question—"Where would you go, and why, if you won a $25 holiday?" one of the winning cards sent in had this written on it: "Fifty years ago a girl sat on a fence outside a little Cornish village, and a young man leaned beside her and asked her to marry him. Now I am only a lonely old woman, but for my last holiday, I should like to find that little Cornish village again."

FIT PUNISHMENT
 The Border Cities Star

A Hamilton man, charged with slapping a policeman's face, has been sentenced to retire to bed not later than 10 o'clock each night. The sentence is for three months.

The chances are that the court has really done this chap a favor. Any man who is forced to go to bed at 10 o'clock each night for three months should find himself, at the end of that period, so much improved in health and physique that he will feel like writing a letter of thanks to the magistrate.

A THOUGHT

"If ye forsake the Lord, and serve strange gods, then he will turn and do you hurt, and consume you, after that he hath done you good.—Joshua xxiv 20.

Better consists in accepting the affirmations of the soul; unbeliever, in denying them.—Emerson.

Loose Ends

A sound idea from the Brain Trust—a word of apology to some stout fellows—a conversation on the Sidney bus—and three spans with one to grow on.

By H. B. W.

BARRIER

D. CARROTHERS, HEAD of the valuable B.C. Brain Trust, tells the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club that one of the chief barriers to progress in this bewildering age is the moral character of the public, for "human beings in groups are mean, hard-hearted, cruel and unjust."

This is called one of the chief barriers to progress. It is the one complete and inseluctable barrier which, until it is pushed back makes any real progress at all impossible. Yet we have statesmen drafting treaties, politicians drafting budgets, lawyers drafting constitutions, parties drafting platforms; we have reformers howling from the housetops and fakers selling their glittering new worlds of tinzel and soap bubbles in the market places, economists devising systems so perfect that no human being could live in them; we have every sort of reform except the only one that matters, the reform of the people themselves.

In that field the Oxford Group, vague and impractical as it may seem, flavored with emotionalism as it may be, has caught hold of a spark of universal truth—that all our elaborate repairs to the superstructure will crumble down like cardboard in the rain of actual life, unless we rebuild the foundation, which is the heart and behaviour of men themselves.

Meanwhile we can blame dictators, soldiers, tariffs, bankers, politicians, machines, brain trusts, the whole grisly impedimenta of our painful march, but being what we are ourselves, we are getting from the world and from life just about what we deserve. And whatever we do about those outward manifestations of our system, we won't get anything better, in the long run, until we deserve it.

STOUT FELLOWS

SOMEONE HAS SUGGESTED to me that, without malice aforethought, I said some rather hard things the other day about the fine fellows who keep up the Parliament Buildings grounds. Actually I only said some hard things about their weedy lawns, but I hasten to point out that this isn't the gardeners' fault. Poor fellows, they are making a wonderful attempt to keep up the grounds on the pinch-penny appropriations of a desperately hard-up government.

I estimate that it would require a hundred men working for a month to get the weeds out of the lawns, since it takes me just that time on a lawn one-hundredth the same size. The gardeners can't do that. British Columbia, for all its vast natural wealth, can't afford a good lawn. But they have produced some of the finest rose beds in the world over there, a sight worth traveling miles to see, a mass of bloom and perfume lending a certain sweet aroma to our provincial politics, which can usually do with it. They are stout and able fellows, the Parliament Buildings gardeners.

NOTHING TO SEE

WHICH REMINDS ME of a conversation I heard in the Sidney bus yesterday, between two American ladies who had just come over here from somewhere in Washington. They couldn't make up their minds whether they should take the night boat to Vancouver or wait over here another day.

"There's absolutely nothing to see in Victoria," said the first one. "There won't be anything to see in Vancouver either," said the second. "I suppose we could go and look at the department stores, they say they're quite large. But outside of that there's nothing in Vancouver, I guess."

"I can't understand," said the first, "how they have the nerve to advertise this little town as a tourist centre. After you've seen the Museum and the Post Office, what is there to see?"

"I suppose we could go up and look through the fence at Government House, but you can never see the Governor. They say this is a capital, but I haven't seen a sign of a government or anything since I've been here in a whole day."

"No there's nothing to see round here. I guess we better get the boat to Vancouver, and then we can catch a bus back to Seattle in the morning. No good wasting our time."

We were traveling then through the lush green loveliness of Saanich in June, but the ladies were too busy looking over tourist pamphlets to notice it. They knew, anyway, that there was nothing to see around Victoria. I had a violent impulse to rise up and tell them to go and see the roses in Parliament Square and comfort their souls with some intimation of immortality there. But I decided that I would be wasting my time. I decided that they would never get any intimations.

ON THE BRINK

AS THIS IS WRITING we are waiting, soldiers, for the dawn of Waterloo, for the violent impact of the birthday party next door. I feel that I must get this job of work done before the firing begins or it will never be done at all. Anyway, we had the first installment of the birthday of the little boy from next door this morning, and it was an installment highly remunerative to the principals concerned.

That is to say, the little girl from next door, after quiet cogitation, hit upon a plan which promised to be profitable not only to her brother, but to herself. So early in the day she took him firmly by the hand and trotted him down the road to the house of Mrs. Pudbury. Knocking on the door, she informed Mrs. Pudbury that her brother was three years old to-day.

"Fie," said her brother modestly, but with a certain look of maturity. "So, of course," said his sister, "you can give him three spans and one to grow on. Everybody can give him three spans and one to grow on if they give him a birthday present. You can't give him three spans and one to grow on if you don't give him a present, though."

Mrs. Pudbury had no present by her exactly suitable for a mature man of three, but she produced some fine, fresh cookies which were divided equally between the little boy and his manager. And Mrs. Pudbury gave him three spans and one to grow on. At Mrs. Beak's back door they acquired a box of cherries. Mrs. Beak, who has a hand like a hammer, applied three spans and one to grow on, which the little boy next door pronounced to be rather too big and heavy.

They staggered all over the neighborhood on this satisfactory expedition, the little girl from next door everywhere exhibiting the rare wonder of a brother just three years old as one might exhibit a tame bear. By the time they got home for lunch they didn't want any, for the smears of cake, cookies, jam, berries and candy down their outside indicated the painful repetition of their insides. And the chief figure in this remarkable exploit rubbed himself in the appropriate region, where he had received about thirty spans and ten

Mrs. Cummins returned this afternoon to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. F. M. MacPherson was hostess at a delightful tea this afternoon at her home "Kingscraig," Rockland Avenue, and was assisted by Mrs. A. M. Watson and Mrs. Byron Johnson, who presided at the tea table and were assisted by Mrs. Norman Whitaker, and the Misses "Buntly" Sloan, Doreen McGregor, and Sheila Tait. In the dining-room a color scheme of yellow and blue was adhered to in the floral decorations, while throughout the home a profusion of summer flowers was used with colorful effect.

Mr. John Lauchlan Parris, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. deB. Parris, Vanuatu, recently graduated from Harvard Law School at Cambridge Mass., with the degree of LL.B. He received his early education in Victoria and is a graduate of the University of British Columbia, taking his B.A. with the class of 1930. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Parris left New York on Thursday for Vancouver via Panama Canal. He will enter his father's law office in Vancouver.

Mrs. George Piercy, 810 Linden Avenue, entertained at the tea hour yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. William Russell, who with her husband, Dr. W. Russell, will leave next week for an extended trip to Europe. Mrs. E. E. Colbeck and Mrs. J. A. Scott were joint hostesses with Mrs. Piercy at the delightful affair. Tea was served in the garden, and during the afternoon Mrs. Russell was presented with a diary in which to record her impressions of the tour, which will include attendance at the Baptist Convention in Berlin, Germany, and the Passion Play at Oberammergau, and visits to other parts of the Continent and the British Isles. Those present yesterday included Mrs. Russell, Mrs. W. M. Allan, Mrs. E. E. Colbeck, Mrs. W. Henderson, Mrs. J. L. Grimmon, Mrs. E. A. Lewis, Mrs. A. Parfitt, Mrs. J. A. Scott, Mrs. W. H. Whitteley and Mrs. Alex. Wilson.

Mrs. C. B. Winter, Beach Drive, was hostess at the tea hour this afternoon at the Beach Hotel when her guests included Mrs. G. A. Henderson, Mrs. J. S. C. Fraser, Mrs. Stewart Williams, Miss Aline Stewart Williams, Mrs. Martin Wheatley, Mrs. C. Roberts, Mrs. W. F. Proctor, Mrs. W. G. Dickenson, Miss Lillian Dickenson, Mrs. J. O. Wilson, Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, Mrs. Beattie, Miss C. J. Alexander and Miss Kent.

Mrs. Norman Senior, Hampton Court, left this afternoon for the mainland on her way to her summer home at Sechart and was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Westman of Toronto, who has been her guest.

Mrs. Senior and Mrs. Westman will spend a few days in Vancouver before going up to Sechart, from where, in a few weeks' time, Mrs. Westman will leave for her home in Ontario.

MARRIED HERE RECENTLY

Mrs. James T. Wilmshurst, formerly Miss Betty Drummond, who was married at the home of the bridegroom's parents on Saturday evening.

INDIAN BRIDE IS CULTURED

Mrs. Vera Gazdar, Recently Wed in Bombay, Received Education in Paris

Picturesquely costumed in the Parsee fashion, Mrs. Vera Gazdar, Indian bride of J. Gazdar, shareholder of Bombay, attracted more than passing attention on board the ship yesterday when the Canadian Pacific liner docked here early to-day from the Orient.

Mrs. Gazdar, a highly-cultured woman, was born in Madagascar of Parsee parents and received her education in Paris, speaking French and English fluently.

Her dark features glowed with a slow smile when she was approached by ship reporters for an interview and she readily consented to pose on deck for news photographers.

"I have a number of friends here and I shall be happy to see them again."

The Indian bride, who is making her initial visit to Canada, remarked that if Canada was as nice as Victoria it must be a wonderful country. She and her husband expect to spend several days at the Banff Springs Hotel en route east and they will sail from New York for Paris and London.

The women of India, said Mrs. Gazdar, are becoming more emancipated, but not as much so as she would like them to be.

She asserted there was not as much political unrest in India as was generally supposed.

"The great majority of the people of India are happy and contented under the present British rule and are not eager for a change," she said.

Weddings

Of interest to local friends of the bridegroom was the wedding solemnized on Monday at high noon in Vancouver, when Dorothy Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Hill of Calgary, became the bride of Mr. Fred Saunders Auger of Victoria, son of Mrs. M. C. Auger and the late Capt. A. E. Auger of Calgary.

Dr. E. D. Henderson read the marriage service in St. Andrews-Wesley Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bea of Vancouver and formerly of Calgary, were in attendance on the principals.

Following their return from Harrison Hot Springs, where they have journeyed on their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Auger will reside in Victoria.

NURSES WILL MARK JUBILEE

Canadian Association To Celebrate Anniversary in Toronto July 26-30

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 20.—Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Canadian Nurses' Association, the biennial meeting of the organization will be held here July 26-30.

The agenda for the silver jubilee meeting provides for consideration of the many pressing problems of the profession.

Guest speakers will include Dr. Robert C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, Dr. Ira A. Mackay, dean of the faculty of arts of McGill University, and Dr. H. M. Cassidy, department of social science, University of Toronto. The historical significance of the occasion will be accentuated by two exceptional features.

Greetings will be conveyed at a banquet by representatives from the International Council of Nurses, the National Council of Nurses of Great Britain, the College of Nursing of England, St. Thomas's Hospital, London, and the American Nurses' Association. A pageant will depict the development of nursing in Canada, from the beginning of nursing in the early French colony, to the diversified activities of the profession to-day.

The association, numbering 10,000 members, exists to render improved service to the public through maintaining and promoting high standards of nursing education and practice, and is affiliated with the International Council of Nurses, with a membership of 180,000 nurses from twenty-nine countries.

Held in Toronto, which is celebrating the centenary of its founding, the delegates attending the convention, through a study of the profession of yesterday and of to-day, will doubtless receive inspiration for the tasks of to-morrow.

Mrs. H. S. Hall, Carey Road, announces the engagement of her eldest daughter, Audrey Marion, to William Arthur Whaley, eldest son of Mr. John Whaley of Trail, B.C. The wedding will take place quietly, July 9.

Only a limited number of tickets are available for the "Going Dutch" musical dance, which the Beauty-Arts Society will hold at the Empress Hotel to-morrow evening, so great has been the demand. This energetic group has spared no effort to ensure the success of the affair, and special music, decorations and features will be in evidence.

A farewell party was given by the senior members of St. John's choir at the home of Miss Bannerman, Chambers Street, in honor of Miss Jessie Burman, who is leaving for England to-day. Mr. G. Jennings Burnett, organist and choirmaster, presented Miss Burman with a beautiful leather handbag and a sum of money as a token of love and appreciation of her many years of faithful service.

A surprise party was held recently in honor of Mrs. Mayo, who is leaving soon to make her home in Vancouver. During the evening Mrs. Mayo was presented with a silver rose bowl and two Chinese embroidered towels. Bouquets of roses were given to Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Mayo. The evening was spent in games and singing, closing with a sit down supper. The self-invited guests were: Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. Rob. Wornleighton, Misses Primrose Mitchell, Beatrice and Dorothy Dickens, Wm. Buchanan, Zoe Richards, Lillian Knowles, Dolly and Alene Simons and Margaret Partington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Townsend entertained Friday evening at their home on Kingsley Street, a number of young friends in honor of the twenty-first birthday of their eldest daughter, Mable, and her engagement to Mr. A. E. Coates, second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Coates, 166 Joseph Street. The evening was spent in cards and dancing. A dainty supper was served at midnight by the hostess. The invited guests were Misses: Ede Summers, Ivy Summers, Ruth Coates, Edna Coates, Maudie Green, Ann Chesworth, Daisy Blackstock, Ruth Whitehead, Norah Whitehead, Grace Townsend and Betty Townsend. Messrs. Art Coates, Jack Summers, Gilbert Brown, Bert Currie, John Currie, Leonard Hibberd, Doug Campbell, Vic Jones, Tommy Woods, Bert Woods and Art Poyntz.

Miss Pauline Rookes, Cranmore Road, left yesterday for Sooke, where she will have charge of the recreational programme of the summer. Miss Rookes has had a wide experience in camp life and recreation work, having had one year as junior counselor at Y.L.I. camp, and four years ago as waterfront director and recreational supervisor of Camp Robbinwood, a girl scout camp on Hood's Canal near Seattle. Miss Rookes received her training at the University of Washington and the American Red Cross Institute. Previous to making Victoria her home she was one of the assistant teachers at the Y.W.C.A. Seattle, for two years. Since coming here she has retained her interest in girls and their activities, having charge of the Discovery Club and Children's Hour at Y.W.C.A. and being a guide for the Seventh Victoria West Company of the Canadian Girl Guides.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. Roy C. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts, Mr. B. J. Kelley, Mr. L. I. Cunningham, Mr. A. R. Hartland, Mr. C. A. Conrod, Capt. J. E. Noel, Mr. R. Carter, Guest and Capt. M. Uldall, all of Vancouver; Mr. F. M. Juvenal, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kelsey, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. D. Sullivan, Joliet, Ill.; Miss Arne Oliver, and Miss Catherine Oliver, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. Holmes, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Speight, Drumheller, Alta.; Miss C. Clendenning and Miss D. Riley, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunrick and son, San Francisco; Mrs. Myron Folsom, Miss Janet Folsom, Messrs. Bob and Myron Folsom, San Mateo, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Willis, Ocean Side, Cal.; Misses J. M. and A. Reible, Seattle; Messrs. Bob and Bill McClaire, Seattle; Mr. Cy. Daggett, Los Angeles; Mr. J. B. Conway, Nanaimo; Mr. D. B. Taylor, Campbell River; Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Wieren, Lynden, Wash.; Rev. P. Jonker, Sydney, Wash.

Queen Alexandra W.B.A.—A short business meeting was held by Queen Alexandra, Imperial W.B.A. on Monday evening, the vice-president, Mrs. Schmeltz, presiding. As the next meeting falls on Monday, July 2, a public holiday, arrangements will be made to change the date of the meeting. Announcements of such change will be in the papers. A letter was read from the Dominion Day Celebration Committee urging the members to support the celebration, which have been planned for July 1 and 2. After the meeting the members enjoyed the concert presented by the girls' choir.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Drob who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday last. They were married on June 17, 1884, in Copenhagen, Denmark, and for the greater part of their married life they resided in Victoria, removing to Shawnigan Lake about a year ago, where they are now residing. One son, Mr. Oscar Drob, of Duncan, and three daughters, Mrs. Johanna Carlson, Mrs. Antonia Cassford and Mrs. Dora Irvin, of Seattle, celebrated the happy occasion with their parents. The golden wedding was observed at the Grace English Lutheran Church, where Mr. and Mrs. Drob attended at the 11 o'clock service. Following the regular service the pastor, Rev. Theo. A. Jansen, spoke briefly of the significance of the occasion; the bridal couple then proceeded to the altar where an appropriate prayer was read. Little Maureen Simpson acted as flower girl and presented the bride with a large bouquet of gold and white roses. The congregation then sang "O Perfect Love." The pastor led the recessional, followed by the bridal couple and the choir. Congratulations were received in the vestibule where Mr. and Mrs. Drob stood against a background of golden poppies and blue delphiniums while the organ played the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin.

EX-VANCOUVER ACTRESS WEDS

Victoria Hopper, Starring in British Films, Bride of Basil Dean, Producer

Associated Press
London, June 20.—Victoria Hopper, the Vancouver-born actress who has been prominent on the London stage and who is taking the leading role of Tessa in the British film "The Constant Nymph," was married in May to Basil Dean, the producer. The marriage took place at Dunmow Registry Office, a few miles from Mr. Dean's home at Little Easton Manor. The News-Chronicle published the following statement of the parties after the ceremony: "Although we realize that in our working lives we have a duty to the public, one which we shall try never to forget, our private lives are our own concern. By our marriage we have merely asserted the elementary right to enjoy that part of our lives free from outside interference of any sort."

Some weeks before the marriage they announced their engagement had been broken off by mutual consent. Mr. Dean said: "At the time the engagement was broken off there was no idea of the Dunmow wedding. The only thing that interests me is that it looks as though when a lady makes up her mind and changes it apparently within a week it is not really a serious matter. But there is more than meets the eye sometimes." Miss Hopper is twenty-four and Mr. Dean forty-five.

RE-MARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE

London Case To Test Legality of Anglican Church Ban

London, June 20.—The refusal of the clergy to marry divorced persons is to be challenged in the courts. The courts are to be asked to decide whether a clergyman of the Church of England "as by law established" is legally bound to solemnize a proposed marriage, and whether, if he refuses, a mandamus can issue against him, with penalties for refusal to comply. The case which is understood to be pending will raise the issue of church practice and civil law. The proceedings have been instituted by a woman, who, having obtained a divorce from her husband and thus being an "innocent party," desires to marry again, but has found it impossible to induce a clergyman to perform the ceremony. An appeal to the bishop has brought a confirmation of the refusal.

BISHOP'S INSTRUCTIONS
It is contended on the woman's behalf that, apart from the law as it stood before the passing of the Divorce Act, 1925, that measure makes it incumbent on the clergy to perform the marriage ceremony without regard to any question of divorce. It provides that: "As soon as any decree for divorce is made absolute either of the parties to the marriage may marry again as if the prior marriage had been dissolved by death."

Divorced persons who wish to re-marry in church are finding it increasingly difficult to get a clergyman to perform the ceremony.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

RELIEF BOTTLES OFTEN MISUSED

The use of a relief bottle for the busy mother, who otherwise might be tied to the nursing baby every day and every evening, is a wholesome habit which should work no hardship on the baby.

SHOULD NOT BE REGULAR

Relief bottles are oftentimes misused. Discovering their convenience, the mother is apt to make them regular instead of intermittent in the baby's diet. If we offer the baby a relief bottle of milk occasionally, the breasts do not suffer any permanent discouragement. If we offer a bottle regularly at the same hour of the day as a nursing, we really are taking the first step in the weaning process. The mother who understands that omitting a regular nursing period daily is actually a discouragement to the production of breast milk, will be in no danger of unwittingly weaning her baby.

The relief bottle should be used only when unusual circumstances demand mother's absence. The desire to go to some entertainment is a legitimate reason for giving baby a relief bottle if the occasion is not repeated daily. The mother has a right to healthful and pleasurable recreation and she is a better mother if she takes it. She may be fortunate enough to be able to pump the breasts, gather the milk into a sterilized nursing bottle, and provide baby's feeding for the next period of her absence.

BOTTLE FEEDING

In case this is not possible she may prepare a bottle feeding using every precaution she would use were the baby entirely dependent upon bottle feedings. The milk should be absolutely fresh, Grade A pasteurized milk. The milk should then be boiled briskly on top of the stove. The amount for the formula may then be measured, mixed with cooled, boiled water and some sugar, put in the bottle, cooled and put on ice. It is then ready to be warmed at the time for baby's feeding.

The approximate amounts for babies of different ages are outlined in my leaflet called, "Formula for Relief Bottles." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it. It is always sensible to offer the first relief bottle to baby at some time when the mother will be at hand. Babies do not always take kindly to a new method of feeding and it is well to acquaint them with the relief bottle before leaving them in charge of some strange and helpless individual.

MRS. T. H. LAUNDY GIVEN HONOR

Mrs. T. H. Laundry, regent of the Bishop Cridge Ministering Chapter, I.O.D.E., since 1917, was honored by her chapter yesterday afternoon when she was presented with a life membership in recognition of her long and devoted leadership. The presentation was made at the final meeting of the season, held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, Fairfield Road.

In making the presentation and planning on the life membership pin, Mrs. J. H. Gillespie spoke of the work which Mrs. Laundry had done, and of the affection felt for her by all members of the chapter. Mrs. E. E. Woolton presented Mrs. Laundry with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. The meeting was held in the garden, tea being served from a charmingly arranged table on the veranda, and Mrs. Douglas Bullen poured tea.

String Orchestra Complimented

The members of the George J. Dyke String Orchestra met for their final practice of the season yesterday evening at the Dominion Academy of Music. Some parents and friends were present and refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Ockenden, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Mrs. Hebdon Gillespie, who was present, was invited by Mr. Dyke to say a few words to the players. She complimented them on their keenness, and alertness in all the excellent things pertaining to ensemble playing and said their performance of the several numbers was exceptionally good. She saw in this orchestra many reasons that portended to future symphonic music of the city.

Mrs. Gillespie regretted the orchestra was not going to the Vancouver exhibition music festival this fall as she thought in the orchestra's progress it would receive even higher marks than were obtained last year. The orchestra will resume its weekly practices early in September.

LOST 13 POUNDS OF FAT

In Nine Weeks

Lost Puffiness Under Eyes—Found New Health—Kruschen Again!

The insidious thing about fat is its nature to creep on steadily... wealthily. Here is a woman whose weight card was a saddening record of ever-increasing poundage. She writes: "I was nearly desperate. There is the dark side of her story. Now you will be interested to hear its happy sequel. Read her letter in full:—

"I do not usually write letters of this sort, but I am so pleased and happy that I simply had to let you know about my reduction in weight after taking Kruschen Salts for only nine weeks. I had taken various pills and tablets without any satisfactory results, and now I have lost 13 lbs. of fat and also regained my health—which had suffered greatly by my previous attempts at reducing. I was 155 lbs. and nearly desperate about it. I simply cannot diet and have not done so; instead I have squeezed the juice of a lemon into the glass of hot water and taken it with Kruschen Salts on rising. Now I am delighted to see the weight card has registered 141 lbs., not only reduction of weight, but it seems a new lease of life. I have already lost the puffiness under my eyes and my skin is clear and fresh. Kruschen Salts should take the place of tonics and all skin beautifiers too."

—Mrs. F. P. The formula of Kruschen represents the ingredient salts of the mineral waters of those European spas which have been used by generations of over-stout people to reduce weight. Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

She managed a wan smile and tried to walk steadily beside him, but her courage did not increase when she realized he was going into the cage unarmed and that none of the men who casually stood close at hand with a revolver, in case a beast should become refractory, was present.

"Stand by," Con said, "and when I call, come in the door."

He picked up a chair, mounted the stairs, turned the key in the lock, opened the door a trifle and slid his body through, slamming the door tightly after him.

Waves of nausea swept over Madeline. Hundreds of times she had watched him do this thing. Hundreds of times she had seen him stroke the head and beard of the great shaggy beast. Sander, and the danger of it had not occurred to her. Now, with her limbs like lead, her hands clammy, her head swimming, all she could think of was Donna's warning. "The cats always get them sometime."

That Sander purred like a kitten and seemed to love the touch of Con's hand meant nothing. He would be sure to hate her! He would sense her fear. Oh, God, she couldn't do it!

Con turned, beckoned to her and unlocked the cage door.

"Come on," he said, "quick." The magic of her love for him moved her weighted limbs. When the door clanged behind her and she realized that she was enclosed behind iron bars with three vicious beasts that could rend her into tatters with one stroke of clawed paws, everything went black before her.

She caught Con's arm and clung to him, not for protection but to keep from falling. The cage seemed to rock as though it were being tossed about on the billows of a stormy sea. She tried to do as Con whispered, to look at the cats. But she couldn't. She felt that the beasts knew her terror and if she looked at them they would spring upon her.

Her wavering gaze focussed upon the bars. They danced crazily, came towards her, receded, twisted and writhed.

"Steady," Con whispered. "Steady. Everything's fine!"

Then he called. "Caris. Come. Caris."

The yellow beast cringed, slunk backward. Con called again, this time with a rasping command. The cat snarled, lashed its tail. Madeline's muscles tensed. Then the lion started to draw nearer, his body flattened until his shaggy stomach rested upon the floor. Madeline could feel his fetid breath, smell the rank odor of him and her reeling senses seemed to congeal.

Suddenly the animal retreated, crouched and emitted a bloodcurdling roar. Con smothered an oath, thrust Madeline from him, jammed his chair full in the face of the beast and with his free hand unlocked the door.

"Get out," he muttered. "Get out. Back out. It's your smell!"

Somehow she contrived to do as he commanded. On the steps her legs caved in like jelly, the fog of black nausea swept her along with it, and she did not know what occurred until long afterward.

She revived with her clothing soaked with the water that Con had thrown in her face. She burst into tears and sobbed her contribution. "Oh, Con, I'm so sorry! I never faint before in my life. But I was so scared. I never knew anyone could be so scared!"

haven't asked you to tickle Lucy under the chin yet."

No one but Madeline knew how she suffered during the two weeks that followed. No one ever knew of the nights when she made her sleeping hours a veritable hell. A thousand times between midnight and daybreak she endured death in the jaws of Sander or Leo or Caris.

Again and again she relived the moments that seemed like centuries when she entered the gilded cage and learned to stand, without flinch, before the slithering jaws and lashing tails of the jungle cats. The night after she first faced Lucy, the Bengal tiger, she jerked with hiccup until daylight and vowed that never again, though it cost her the man she loved, would she enter the cage with the tiger. But she did it. Again and again she walked through the iron-barred door and not even Con realized what it cost her.

In vain were Con's reassurances that the cat feared his pistol and his chair and whip far more than she feared them. She pretended to agree with him, but she knew that, given the opportunity, they would rend her.

Above everything in the world Con cherished his reputation for fearlessness and his ability to control the beasts. He was obsessed with ambition and far from satisfied with his position as star performer with a small touring circus. When he saw that Madeline seemed to enter into the training and appeared to be anxious to add to his fame he had visions of achieving more with her assistance than he could ever have done alone.

This increased his regard for her far more than beauty or love could have done.

After each rehearsal his caresses helped pay the girl for the sick panic she suffered.

Fortunately there was no occasion to mention Donna's name. Letters came seldom and though once Con handed one of them to Madeline, he did not inquire about the other girl or ask what she was doing. He took it for granted that Donna was married and happy.

Often Madeline wondered what Con would do when he learned the truth. Several times she was tempted to write Donna and beg her to write a letter saying she was engaged to him or had just broken an engagement to him, but she hesitated.

The rehearsals went on, and the day for her public appearance in the cage drew near. Then one afternoon Con announced that during the evening performance Madeline Gabriel would enter the cage of jungle cats.

"Never before, ladies and gentlemen, has a woman faced a cage of lions and tigers, sworn enemies. Never before has a woman dared such a death-defying stunt!"

"God help you!" muttered Madeline as the Plying Vales as she stood beside Madeline. "I'd rather fall from the bars than step into the cage with that Beigal!"

CHAPTER XVI

Madeline's terror was curiously like stage fright. She was quivering in the knees and sick in the pit of her stomach as Con led her across the arena, but when she stepped into the cage and heard the burst of applause from the audience her fear vanished, just as stage fright vanishes after the first few words are spoken.

She felt calm, rather elated, and found herself enjoying the sensation of giving thrills to a multitude. To be sure, all she did was to stand with her back against the door and watch her husband put the cats through their paces, to stand without cringing when a long, striped body alighted over her feet and a great yellow tail lashed against her ankles.

But the audience was well aware that she was the greater danger. She carried no protection. Of course the revolver Con used occasionally held only blanks and was fired more for effect than anything else—but few of the spectators knew this. Just at the end of the act, Con turned, swept Madeline into his arms and kissed her. The audience cheered.

"You were great, honey," he said, "wonderfully. You weren't afraid, were you?"

"Not a bit," she answered. "Just the same, I'm glad to be on the good old sawdust again."

"We're going to have the greatest act in the country before we're through! When you have Lucy crawling to you we won't take any more money from anyone. We'll name our own price—go to Europe, go anywhere we want to!"

"Lucy!" Madeline gasped. "You want me to work with Lucy?"

"Why not? She doesn't know any of the other tricks. We'll break her with new ones, make a star act. While I'm putting the others through the routine you can put Lucy through her act. It should be a riot!"

THE chief grievance that the average middle-aged wife has against her husband is that he takes her for granted. That is the burden of her lamentations. Oh, yes, she admits that he is good and kind and tender and considerate and a wonderful provider. He never looks at another woman. He sticks as close to his own hearthstone as the house cat. He works his fingers to the bone to provide her and the children with every luxury. But boo-hoo, boo-hoo, life is tedious, ashes and dust to her because he takes her for granted.

He doesn't spend his time making soulful love to her and assuring her that he will just curl up and die if anything happened to her, as he did when he was courting her. He doesn't tell her how beautiful she is, and how ravishing she looks in her new gown every time she puts on her latest purchase. He doesn't rave over the pudding that she has spent an hour or two concocting for him. And likely as not he will spend the evening drowsing over paper and pipe instead of engaging in an animated conversation. He doesn't make a fuss over her or what she does. He just takes her and the comfortable home she makes him for granted.

Now when one of these trouble-borrowers comes to me with her tale of woe—and they come by the thousands—I always feel like saying to her: "Gee! So your husband takes you for granted, does he? Well, go down on your knees and thank God for your luck instead of bemoaning it. You don't know when you are well off, for when a man takes his wife for granted he is paying her the very highest compliment in his power. He is showing her that he considers her so completely all right that he doesn't have to comment on it. No matter how fine a performance she puts up it is just what he expected of her."

A lot of nonsense is talked about keeping romance alive in marriage and making the honeymoon a perpetual performance of billing and cooing and about husbands and wives keeping each other glamorous figures to each other. That is all hooey. Because it can't be done in the first place, and because, in the second place, nobody could stand to do it or bear having it done to them. It would tear love to tatters and wear down the strongest constitution.

As a matter of fact, the only really happy and satisfactory marriages are those in which the husband and wife take each other for granted. It is only after husband and wives are so assured of each other's love that they don't have to talk about it or inquire after the state of each other's affections; it is only after they trust each other so completely that they are like the old lady who said that even if she saw her husband doing something wrong she would know that he hadn't done it and that it was only her lying eyes that had deceived her; it is only after a couple have become so completely one that they know that nothing but death could separate them, that marriage is purged of jealousy and suspicion and doubts and unrest and becomes the holy estate that it should be.

There is one technique for courtship and an altogether different one for marriage. Before marriage a man assumes the role of a romantic hero and twangs his lute guitar under the maiden's window, so to speak. He swears by yonder moon that he desires nothing so much as to spend the balance of his life in gazing into her violet eyes. He deluges her with flowers and candy and wistful, and he wears of telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is and how different from all other women.

But after marriage no sensible man wants to go on with the play acting. He doesn't want to be cast in the part of Ramon Novarro. He wants to say it with beefsteak instead of orchids and for his wife to have enough sense to know that he still loves her and that she is o.k. with him as long as he doesn't run around at night and never finds fault with anything she does and pays her bills without grumbling, even if he doesn't keep a chart to show that his temperature is still at fever heat.

A woman finds it good tactics before marriage to keep a man guessing, to play fast and loose with him and never let him be quite certain of how she cares for him. But after marriage a man doesn't want a wife who flirts with other men and of whose love he is uncertain. He wants a wife he can trust. He wants to be so sure of his wife's devotion and loyalty that he never gives the subject an anxious thought. He just takes it for granted as he does the sunshine or any other blessing of nature.

Of course, husbands and wives should keep themselves personally attractive and try to make life interesting for each other, but can you imagine anything that would put more of a strain upon love than to have to be always putting the best foot foremost during thirty or forty years of marriage. Think of always having to be dressed up, always having to be suave and flattering, always having to hand out an entertaining line of conversation!

No. The happy home is the one in which the husband and wife can relax and be themselves, where they don't feel that they have to make any effort to hold each other, where they don't have to talk unless they feel like it, because they just take their oneness for granted.

UNCLE WIGGLY'S MUD PIES

BY HOWARD K. GARRIS

Uncle Wiggly, a plump, round, and very fat man, jumped into his hollow stump bungalow very fast.

"What's the matter?" asked his wife, who was sewing buttons on one of his shirts. "Uncle Wiggly was just a little late. Are you having an adventure?" asked his sister, Mrs. Longears.

"I just had one!" replied Mr. Longears, sitting down in a chair to catch his breath, which seemed to be playing tag with him.

"What kind of an adventure?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Well," said the rabbit, "I took a picnic basket of good things to Mr. Mouse. On my way back I picked up the basket which the fox and wolf had taken. And when I was coming home through the woods, where the fox and wolf had been, they were so mad that they had each other with them and I ran away."

"That was some adventure!" said Mrs. Longears.

"Just fancy that!" said Mr. Longears. "Why, the very idea!" cried Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "My pots! My pans! My dishes and the basket!"

"Now don't worry," said Uncle Wiggly. "When the bad Chap got through lifting each other they'll see how silly they were, quarreling over a lot of empty pans. They'll be so ashamed that I got away from them that they'll run away and leave the basket, pots, pans and dishes there in the woods. I'll go there to-morrow and get them for you."

"Oh, you'd better not. The bad Chap may be hiding in the bushes," warned his wife.

"I think not, my dear," said Uncle Wiggly. "They'll be too ashamed to linger around."

So the next day Uncle Wiggly went back to the place where the fox and wolf had acted so silly and there he found the basket and the pots, pans and dishes scattered about in the woods.

"Just as I thought," said Uncle Wiggly. "All here safe and sound. Now I'll drop them after their fight. Now I'll pack them in the basket again and take them to Mrs. Longears."

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly thought of something else. He saw a little spring and a brook of water near the place where the rabbit gentleman had been and the rabbit gentleman noticed that there was some nice mud right at his feet.

"What's to stop me from making some mud pies?" asked Uncle Wiggly of himself. There being no one else in the woods to talk to, not even a bad Chap, thank goodness.

"I could make some lovely mud pies here by the brook," went on the rabbit gentleman. "I have the pots and pans and dishes to put them in and out on that flat rock the sun is shining brightly so it is like a gas stove oven. There I could bake my mud pies to the Queen's taste. I'll do it!"

When he was a little boy rabbit Uncle Wiggly had always wanted to make mud pies, but his mother never would let him.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1934

Benefic planetary aspects dominate today. It is a day for planning as well as for working along many lines of activity. Neptune is in a place fortunate for the world and those in its service. Again there will be honors and promotions for many naval officers.

While this configuration prevails, foreboding may be given even to those not usually gifted with vision. The people of the United States will begin now to open their eyes with unwonted interest to world problems.

Astrologers declare that where perils to the nation are most exploited there may be less danger in secret places.

Mining now comes under a way that indicates increased interest, but there is a high pressing disappointment.

This is a favorable rule of the stars for construction along various lines. The stars smile on government projects. Cities will be beautified.

Shops and factories will gain each week in the coming two or three months, especially on trade are prognosticated.

Civils will demonstrate the rule of excitement this summer when they will wear the briefest of bathing suits and the least of dresses.

Among the manias that affect the human mind as by-products of genius, strain attending financial stress the nudist cult will be the first to be quashed. It is prophesied.

Persons whose birthdays are in the saguaro of a successful year. Fame and fortune will come to many men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be talented and able to succeed. Many subjects of this sign gain great renown.

Daniel D. Tompkins, one-time Vice-President of the United States, was born on this day, 1774. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Maurice A. Baidwin, Canadian clergyman, 1824 and Matthew Simpson, Methodist bishop, 1811.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 20.—An increase of more than $100,000,000, or approximately 47 per cent, was shown in Canada's exports to British Empire countries in May, when they totaled $32,028,000 as compared with $21,663,000 in the corresponding month last year.

according to a report issued yesterday by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The increase to the United Kingdom was 46 per cent.

Exports to foreign countries amounted to $25,872,000, as compared with $23,914,000, an increase of $1,958,000, or 8 per cent. Increase to the United States was 24 per cent.

Dalhousie Man For Manitoba

University of Winnipeg Selects Sidney Earle Smith For Its President

Winnipeg, June 20.—Sidney Earle Smith, energetic thirty-seven-year-old dean of law at Dalhousie University, has been selected for the position of president of the University of Manitoba.

After a special meeting of the board of governors D. C. Coleman, chairman, announced that the board had decided to offer the presidency of the university to Dean Smith. It was expected that the brilliant young Nova Scotian would accept the position, he said.

As successor to Dr. John A. MacLean, who announced before the end of the university year his decision to retire, Dean Smith will become president of the University of Manitoba on July 1.

Dean Sidney Earle Smith, M.A., LL.B., is a young Nova Scotian, who has rapidly risen to the top in the academic world. Like many other prominent Canadians, Dean Smith is a son of the farm. Born in 1897, at Port Hood, Cape Breton, he attended the local high school and later the University of King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, where he was graduated with B.A. in 1915, M.A. in 1919. Like many of his fellow students his college course was interrupted by the Great War. He enlisted in the ranks as a gunner, and saw service in the front with the Canada corps from 1916-1918. In 1918 he received a commission in the flying corps.

Returning to Canada he entered the law school of Dalhousie University, from which he was graduated LL.B. after a brilliant record. He then proceeded to Harvard for graduate study. He returned to Dalhousie University as assistant professor of law. In 1926 he was called to the faculty of law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, returning to Dalhousie as dean of the faculty of law in 1929.

Dalhousie Law School is widely known throughout Canada and the United States as a great school of law. Its graduates, among whom are the present prime minister of Canada, have been leaders of the legal profession in Canada, and many of them have filled high posts on the bench and in the public life of Canada. Under Dean Smith's able leadership the school has continued its great tradition of scholarship and public service. As head of the school, Dean Smith has earned for himself an enviable reputation as an unusually competent administrator, teacher and scholar. He has been popular both with his students and his colleagues.

During the last six years he has been assistant editor of The Canadian Bar Review and has contributed to its pages many important articles. And law students in the various law schools of Canada know well the case books on "Trusts" and "Equity" of which Dean Smith was co-editor.

Dean Smith's unbounded energy could not, however, be confined to his teaching and scholarly activities. An secretary of the Conference of Commissioners on Uniformity of Legislation in Canada since 1929, he has contributed much to the work of this important conference and as such has become widely known to the leading members of the legal profession from end to end of Canada.

In the city of Halifax he has become recognized as a young man who gets things done and gets them done without treading on anyone's toes. As president of the board of the Halifax Y.M.C.A. during two of the depression years he has been active and successful in keeping the "Y" on its feet. He has also served actively in such other civic activities as member of the board of the Halifax Ladies' College and Conservatory of Music, as director of the Halifax Rotary Club, and as chairman of the board of management of his church, St. Andrew's United.

BEATTY AGENTS MARK BIRTHDAY

Extensive Celebrations
Planned for Sixtieth Anniversary of Firm

Fergus, Ont., June 20.—Celebrating the diamond jubilee of its founding here by George and Mathew Beatty on June 18, 1874, the well-known national firm and world-wide exporting house of Beatty Bros. is on a festive day with the celebrations lasting until the end of the week.

Early this morning a special Canadian Pacific train brought 200 agents from all parts of Canada, including two from the United Kingdom, to take part in the demonstration. After an inspection of the plant the visitors were entertained at a luncheon presided over by the president, George Beatty. This firm has a foundry at London, Ont., and a factory here with a floor space of ten acres. It has distributing warehouses, offices or depots at St. John, Montreal, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver; Auckland, Wellington, Dunedin and Christchurch in New Zealand and London, Wellesden, Tottenham, Catford, Ilford, Streatham, Manchester, Newcastle in the Old Country. The firm also has agencies in fifty other countries of the world.

been named to look after arrangements and a big day is expected. There will be flat and novelty races for competitors of all ages and two softball games will also be played. Excellent picnic grounds offer good facilities for those desiring to make an outing for the day, and the camp will be open for inspection.

Ghandi Imitator Startles Senate

Washington, June 20.—A man walked into the Senate gallery and he was very nearly nude.

To be exact, he wore sandals, a loin cloth and a short white cape over his shoulders. (Later he described himself as "the American Gandhi").

Anyway, he wore so little that he caused no end of consternation and was promptly hustled out of view by Sergeant-at-Arms Chesley Jurney and half a dozen policemen.

It was at that point that Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut, a Republican if ever there was one demanded: "What do you want to arrest him for? Probably he's the only sane man in Washington."

say, there are other cases such as the one just mentioned.

We have other reports of women, good and true, who could never treat those who serve them with so little gratitude or consideration. To say the least, such practices are cruel and some punishment to fit the crime is necessary. Many acts are on the statute books less than one that will give protection to domestic labor; and, mark you, this class of work is real labor. May I draw your attention to the fact in many instances, that white help is compelled to sleep in the basement. "Some cherry spot, and the air so invigorating after a hot day's work." Think of it! And this after all the health talks about the benefits of fresh air and sunshine! One wonders do the mistress guilty of this offence imagine health and happiness are not for the domestics? All need their surroundings as pleasant as possible in order to keep a bright outlook on life. Better habits and customs should be taught before the law compels it. "INTERESTED."

HILLING POTATOES

To the Editor:—Listening in to a discussion on potato growing by a group of enthusiasts, I was greatly interested in their remarks on the correct method of "hilling"—that is, banking the earth to each side of the rows of growing plants.

This "hilling" potatoes is just another imported horticultural operation. It originated in very wet locations in Europe where excessive summer rainfall caused the tubers to rot. In these places the potatoes were planted on a slope, the channel between the rows caused by the banking operation, carried off the surplus water.

Locally, with our light summer rainfall this "hilling" is responsible for many partial crop failures. The greater exposed soil surface allows quicker penetration of our drying winds. Potatoes showing above the surface of the soil are usually the result of too shallow digging or ploughing, the underground shoots on the ends of which the potato form cannot penetrate deeply enough to keep the expanding tuber covered.

If artificial watering is resorted to, give the plants one or two thorough soakings with a revolving sprinkler and as soon as the soil is dry enough to work cultivate the surface lightly to help conserve the moisture that is in the top soil. Remember this much-talked-of "Dust Mulch" is for this purpose only; it does not draw moisture from the subsoil.

The most generous thing that can be said of the usual spraying of the foliage with a nozzle on the end of a hose is that it is a complete waste of time.

FRED BENNETT.

DANCE REVUE OPENS FRIDAY

Pupils of Florence Clough Academy in Colorful Presentation at Empress Hotel

A complete ballet, costumed in cellophane, an Hawaiian dance with grass skirts, palms and the popular grass shack, an effective costume number, St. Louis Blues, a silver ballet, ballet of Spain and outstanding solo numbers, will feature the annual revue of the Florence Clough Dance Academy, which will be staged next Friday night with Saturday matinee in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

For the presentation of this dance revue a large stage has been built at the eastern end of the ballroom, equipped with a battery of electric and colored footlights and spotlight effects.

The opening number will be the Cellophane Ballet, which will introduce a chorus of twenty girls in a, clearly numbers, including ballet, tap and chorus dances.

The Ballet of Spain will feature the famous Toreador dance by a chorus of six girls, with Beverly Armstrong as soloist, the dancers appearing in flaring red capes, weaving and turning to the music of Carmen. Other numbers in this ballet will include the interpretation of the Carols, Rumba, Bolero, tango and Spanish tango dances.

The Silver Ballet will include all classes of the academy, the dancers ranging in age from three years to the most advanced pupils in ballet technique.

Solo numbers will be presented at the revue by Ethel Gillis in tap and ballet numbers, Velda Wille in buck and wing tapping, Beverly Armstrong in Spanish dances, Nedra Mitchell in musical comedy, Thelma Stratford in ballet, adagio and classical dances, Thelma Armstrong in Oriental and La Dance Moderne, Davida Webb in interpretative dances, Kathleen Gregson and Frederick Hawkins in an exhibition waltz, and Haze Roskelly and Joan Webb, in the six-year-old class, presenting interpretative and ballet.

Mr. Hurd refused to make public the terms of the transaction, which included the old surf inlet mine, three other mine groups and several hundred thousand dollars' worth of equipment with a mill of 300 tons daily capacity. The mines were developed considerably one year ago. He said operations on the Surf Inlet mine would be started at once.

HILLING POTATOES

To the Editor:—Listening in to a discussion on potato growing by a group of enthusiasts, I was greatly interested in their remarks on the correct method of "hilling"—that is, banking the earth to each side of the rows of growing plants.

This "hilling" potatoes is just another imported horticultural operation. It originated in very wet locations in Europe where excessive summer rainfall caused the tubers to rot. In these places the potatoes were planted on a slope, the channel between the rows caused by the banking operation, carried off the surplus water.

Locally, with our light summer rainfall this "hilling" is responsible for many partial crop failures. The greater exposed soil surface allows quicker penetration of our drying winds. Potatoes showing above the surface of the soil are usually the result of too shallow digging or ploughing, the underground shoots on the ends of which the potato form cannot penetrate deeply enough to keep the expanding tuber covered.

If artificial watering is resorted to, give the plants one or two thorough soakings with a revolving sprinkler and as soon as the soil is dry enough to work cultivate the surface lightly to help conserve the moisture that is in the top soil. Remember this much-talked-of "Dust Mulch" is for this purpose only; it does not draw moisture from the subsoil.

The most generous thing that can be said of the usual spraying of the foliage with a nozzle on the end of a hose is that it is a complete waste of time.

BRIDGE RIVER PROTEST MADE

Vancouver Asks Provincial Government Investigate Conditions There

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 20.—The Vancouver and New Westminster District Trades and Labor Council decided yesterday evening to ask the provincial government to investigate labor conditions in the Bridge River mining district.

The decision was made after a delegate from the Electrical Workers' Union had stated that outside of Bralorne and Pioneer mines some other properties in the district were "useless holes in the ground." Even the electric power company, he said, was stretching wires on jack-pole poles.

The government was paying $2.08 a day for rail and roadwork, and there was little hope for an unemployed man to get work in the district.

The unemployed, the delegate said, ran from place to place, with no place to sleep and were grabbing food where they could. He said he had seen young fellows fighting at the cookhouse for scraps of food the cooks threw out.

HOURS OF WORK

It was decided to ask the government to exercise the Special Power Act to eliminate numerous exemptions brought down by the Industrial Relations Board with regard to the Hours of Work Act.

A request from the Seattle Central Labor Council that the Vancouver body endorse and use its influence in favor of the Alaska-British Columbia Highway Bill before Congress was approved without dissent.

Unanimous endorsement of the strike of musicians against the Canadian Radio Commission was given, and the attitude of the commission condemned.

DOMESTIC HELP

say, there are other cases such as the one just mentioned.

We have other reports of women, good and true, who could never treat those who serve them with so little gratitude or consideration. To say the least, such practices are cruel and some punishment to fit the crime is necessary. Many acts are on the statute books less than one that will give protection to domestic labor; and, mark you, this class of work is real labor. May I draw your attention to the fact in many instances, that white help is compelled to sleep in the basement. "Some cherry spot, and the air so invigorating after a hot day's work." Think of it! THE SCREEN

DOMINION

There are any number of amusing incidents in the Gaumont-British picture, "Jack Ahoy!" showing at the Dominion.

Probably the most hilarious moments occur when Hulbert, in charge of a submarine which he has only the foggiest idea of manipulating, steers a zig-zag course both below and on the surface of the sea. He is chased by pirates in an armed motor launch and the scene where the submarine rises to the surface and tips the occupants of the launch into the sea, is unbelievably funny.

Hulbert sings a tuneful number, "My hat's on the side of my head," and also dances a screamingly funny hornpipe. He has an amusing dream sequence in which pirates are changed into pretty girls, whilst another exceedingly funny episode is where he masquerades as the ship's barber.

Supporting characterizations come from Nancy O'Neill, Alfred Drayton, Henry Peterson and Tamara Dean.

CAPITOL

The man who for years has designed and created the settings for the major spectacles of the screen has now tried his hand at creating not only the settings but the picture as well. Cedric Gibbons, art director at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, makes his directorial debut with "Tarzan and His Mate," new adventure picture being shown to-day at the Capitol Theatre.

Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan and Neil Hamilton play the principal triangle in a vivid drama of jungle thrills, based on stories by Edgar Rice Burroughs. The picture is a vivid sequel to "Tarzan, the Ape Man."

Gibbons, formerly with Edison, later the Goldwyn enterprises, and finally with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has won fame as a creator of settings with pictures ranging from "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Ben-Hur" and such spectacles of the silent days to such modern settings as in "Our Dancing Daughters," "Skyscraper Souls," "Grand Hotel" and "When Ladies Meet."

"I was ready to faint on the stage," Conway Tearle relates. "If the audience had laughed I knew that I never would have been able to hold them during the scene. When the curtain came down the front of my dress shirt was completely wilted—and so was I!"

Tearle's New York success opened the road for his return to Hollywood where he has already furthered his screen "comeback" with a gripping performance in "Day of Reckoning." His latest appearance is in the role of Max Lawrence, sophisticated artist, in "Should Ladies Behave," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature now playing at the Playhouse Theatre.

Caymanas Scores Great Upset In Royal Hunt Cup At Ascot

50 To 1 Shot In Precise Victory Over Large Field

Finishes Length and Half in Front of Highlander; Young Native Third

Helen Hicks Has Joined Pro Ranks

Shahali Takes Cheskam Stakes

Ascot, Eng., June 20.—Biggest upset of the meeting to date, H. E. Ewing's four-year-old Caymanas at 50 to 1 won the renewal of the Royal Hunt Cup, today's feature of the great Ascot meeting, over the seven furlongs, 166 yards course.

The 50-to-1 shot won decisively, having a length and a half advantage at the wire over Lord Derby's Highlander, who started at 100 to 1. A. R. Heath's Young Native at 33 to 1 was third, another three lengths back in the field of twenty-nine.

The Ascot traditional upsetting was well exemplified in the Cup, first run in 1843. Caymanas, a chestnut colt by Papyrus, won only one of his numerous starts last season.

The French Bontenmark was fourth and Solifata fifth. The winner's time was 1:40.

The two-year-olds had their innings in the Cheskam Stakes over the five and a half furlongs route, and the Aga Khan's Shahali won by a length and a half over Mrs. Corlette's Glorioso. The favorite, A. James's Orymter, the favorite third, another length back. Shahali started at 6 to 1.

In the St. James Palace Stakes, yesterday's feature, the sensational favorite in the Derby, suffered a surprising defeat over the mile route. He started at odds of 1 to 3.

The horse to beat the favorite was Lord Rosebery's Flamenco, starting at 100 to 9, who won by half a length. Garrygoher was third.

BEAVERS IN ANOTHER WIN

Continue Victory March at Expense of New Method in Senior Softball

Beavers hung up just another win yesterday evening in the A section of the Lower Island Softball Association as they downed New Method Laundry, 8 to 6, at the Central Park, while the Mohawks took the measure of the Blue Ribbons, 8 to 7, at Victoria West.

The Laundries started out in fine style, sending five runners around in the opening inning, the Mohawks held the lead until the third, when the Ribbons evened the score. Mohawks forged ahead again in the seventh and held their lead in spite of a determined rally by the Ribbons in the last. Palmer hurried for the winners and Eric Molr started for the Ribbons to be replaced by Turner in the seventh.

Admiral's overcame Marigold, 9 to 4, and Saanich Bluebirds defeated Riverside, 14 to 12, in the Saanich League.

New York, June 20.—Helen Hicks, former United States champion and international player, yesterday announced her retirement from amateur competition and the advent of her career as the first "business woman golfer" of the country.

Like Joyce Wethered and Enid Wilson, the twenty-three-year-old Long Island star, who won the Canadian title in 1929, quit the ranks of the minor pros to take up a commercial post with a sporting goods concern in the capacity of an adviser in its women's golf department.

FOUR CUPS UP AT LONGACRES

Handsome Trophies Will Be Awarded Winners of Stakes at Washington Track

Seattle, June 20.—Rich purse money will not be the only reward to owners lucky enough to win some of the big stakes during the sixty-day Longacres meeting, which opens June 28. Announcement was made yesterday by Joe Gottstein, president of the Washington Jockey Club, that four handsome silver trophy cups the four costing the donors $1,800.

The four, declared to be the last word in the silversmith's art, are expected to attract additional attention to the races in which they will be at stake.

Reflecting his interest in the stake named in his honor, Lieut.-Governor Vic Meyers has donated the Meyers Trophy to be awarded the winner of the Lieutenant-Governor Meyers Handicap of Saturday, August 4.

The richest race of the Longacres season will be the Seattle Handicap of Sunday, August 5. This stake has $1,500 in added money, and the Washington Jockey Club has donated the Seattle Cup as an extra reward.

The longest stake of the season is the Longacres Cup race of two miles, September 2. It has $1,250 added, and for this the jockey club has donated a massive sterling silver trophy.

The U.D.L. Limited Cup of plate is the winner of the British Columbia Handicap of August 19. This trophy was donated through the efforts of A. L. McLennan, an ardent follower of the thoroughbred.

TITLE BOUT FROWNED ON

New York Commission Will Not Sanction Rosenbloom-Fiermonte Fight

New York, June 20.—The feud between Madison Square Garden and the New York State Athletic Commission broke out on a fresh front yesterday as the state fathers ordered a stop put to this business of matching Unzo Fiermonte against Maxey Rosenbloom for the light heavyweight championship.

Fiermonte, Italian pugilist, whose marriage to the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor, created a social sensation last year, had gone so far as to train one day on his wife's estate at Southampton before the commission threw the Garden into an uproar for the second time in a couple of weeks.

Yesterday the commission warned Sam McQuade, who holds the title of matchmaker at the Garden, that no approval will be given a Rosenbloom-Fiermonte match if and when the subject is brought officially before the commission.

No contracts have been signed.

Ardmore Golfers Beat Cowichan

Sidney, June 20.—Playing at Ardmore Golf Club, North Saanich, on Sunday the home team defeated Cowichan Golf Club 20½ to 19½.

Foursumes in the morning were as follows:

G. Prevost and A. Prevost ½, Delidai and Anderson 2½.

Powel and Duncan 3½, Davis and Gamble ½.

Kennington and Leeming ½, Withers and Gore-Langton 2½.

Carr-Hilton and Craig 1, Prentiss and Gibson 2.

Headley and Fox 2, Dixon and Gore, Fennell 1.

In the afternoon singles resulted as follows: G. Prevost 3, A. Delidai 0; A. Prevost 1, Anderson 2; Powell 2, Duncan ½; Gamble 2½; Kennington 0, Withers 3; Leeming 2½; Gore-Langton 1½; Carr-Hilton 1; Prentiss 2; Craig 0; G. F. Fennell 1; Headley 0, Dixon 3; Fox 3, G. Powell 0.

Charity Baseball Games To Resume

Teams Will Again Engage in Comedy Attractions at Beacon Hill; Angus "Winnipeg" Chilton Requested To Take Presidency of League

Thousands of sport followers, young and old, who journeyed to Beacon Hill during the summer months last year, to get a fine evening's entertainment from the charity baseball games, will welcome the announcement that the exhibitions will be resumed this summer. Although the date of the first game has not been set, the official opening will take place in about two weeks' time. Five or six teams are available for play, including Cox's Army, The Times, The Colonist, policemen and firemen, with the possibility of another nine from the service clubs.

Inaugurated last year under the auspices of the Gray Line, the charity games proved a success beyond the fondest dreams of the promoters. Well over $1,000 was raised for good causes with such institutions as the Sunshine Inn, solarium, etc. benefiting. The exhibitions attracted good crowds from the start, and at the end of the season were drawing huge attendances.

One of the biggest crowds to ever attend a local sporting event, was seen when "Lester Patrick Night" was staged as a send-off to the hockey mogul and his family on their departure for Montreal. The crowd was roughly estimated at 5,000, and a great programme was run off with Lester being presented with a beautiful silver tray by Mayor Leeming from the citizens of Victoria.

The two men instrumental last year in putting over the charity games were Angus "Winnipeg" Chilton and George "Rebel" Mowat. They were organizers of the Gray Line nine, and it was the comedy and humor put on by the members of that club that attracted the crowds.

In recognition of his services last year, the sponsors of the charity games have requested "Winnipeg" to take over the presidency this season. Although he has given no definite answer, it is expected Chilton will take on the job. "Winnipeg" is well-known to all followers of sport, and is figured to be the ideal man for the job.

All proceeds this year will again be given to charity with the money to be turned over to reliable men. Announcement of the date of the opening game will be made within a few days.

The suits were instituted by H. H. Martin, secretary of the Lord's Day Society, who took a day off from devotional duties Sunday to see Austin's show.

"If I obtain judgment I should not think of touching a penny of the money collected, but should hand over all amounts without any deduction whatever to hospitals which refuse to accept contributions from Sunday amusements," Martin said.

His purpose, he added, is to vindicate the religious character of the Lord's Day. The case will be heard by the King's bench division.

Austin, much discouraged to-day, indicated he is about through with his effort to popularize rodeos in Great Britain.

"We are being persecuted, and I don't know what the folks back home will think about it," he said. "We are resigned to taking a big financial loss due to obstacles thrown in our path, but we are going to fight for our rights in the courts."

The Sunday performance attracted only a few hundred spectators.

Deadlock For Lead In Lacrosse Loop

Vancouver, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Salmonbellies, from New Westminster, had to share the top place in the inter-city box lacrosse league, yesterday evening, for the first time this season, when they dropped a 16 to 14 decision to St. Helens.

A meeting of the executive of the Victoria West soccer team will be held to-night in the clubrooms, at 8:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Moody Hopes To Make Comeback

New York, June 20 (Associated Press).—Helen Wills Moody is looking forward to her return to tennis competition next year.

Just before she sailed for England yesterday, the former champion said the back injury which forced her to quit tennis last season was responding to treatment.

"I still can't bend very well," she said, "and I have to be careful about moving or turning quickly as it irritates the sciatic nerve. But my back is so much better that I am hopeful of being able to get back on the courts in the fall."

NEW ACTION OVER RODEO

Promoter in England Into More Trouble for Putting on Sunday Performance

London, June 20.—Troubles continued to pile up to-day for Tex Austin, promoter of "the world's gentlest rodeo."

Already accused of terrifying a steer in violation of laws against cruelty to animals, Austin to-day was notified of a new action against him because he staged a charity performance of his gentlest rodeo last Sunday.

The new action was instituted by the Lord's Day Observance Society, which seeks to collect $500 from Austin and $1,000 from the National Sporting Club.

The suits were instituted by H. H. Martin, secretary of the Lord's Day Society, who took a day off from devotional duties Sunday to see Austin's show.

"If I obtain judgment I should not think of touching a penny of the money collected, but should hand over all amounts without any deduction whatever to hospitals which refuse to accept contributions from Sunday amusements," Martin said.

Oarsmen Fighting For N.P.A.A. Boats

Tentative J.B.A.A. Crews for Pacific Northwest Classic Show Considerable Strength; Working Out Every Night

Sweeping over the waters of the Gorge in preparation for the N.P.A.A. regatta at Coal Harbor on July 13 and 14, rowing hopes of the James Bay Athletic Association this week continued their fights for berths in the local boats for the Pacific Northwest classics.

To-day only tentative crews had been lined up by Coach Dan Moses and several of the boats were far from certain entries. With the final selection still in doubt the boys are turning out every night to go through their paces in quest of berths.

Without showing undue optimism, Coach Moses today stated his boys were in very fair shape, and had rowed in consistently good form in early races this season. They would need considerable grooming, however, before they were ready for the challenges of the talent from other clubs in the N.P.A.A. body.

PROBABLE CREWS

According to present indication, Chris Daley is expected to stroke the senior four this year, with Don Davis, Bill Lemm and Jim Temple probably forming the rest of the crew.

There is a fair possibility Jim Seale's quartette may carry the local blue-and-white colors in the junior four. Max Winkler and J. McDonald are candidates for No. 3 and 2 benches, while either Hugh Francis or Jimmy Mann may row bow.

The crew lost a valuable prospect in Red McMillan, husky youngster, who took the count with appendicitis recently.

Keen competition is being shown in the battle for seats in the tuck-weight boat. Gordie Scott, stroke; Arnold Mann, three; Ian McConnan, two; and Bob Wratten, bow, look good for positions at present, but they will have to continue their improvement to be assured of berths.

Alex Webster is right in the fight for that shell and switches in position are being considered by the coach.

DOUBLES AND SINGLES

Mac Billingsley and Bob Wratten look promising for the tuckweight doubles, with Alex Webster and Fred Parker looming up as their most formidable rivals for that event.

The Mann brothers, Arnold and Jimmy, may get the call for both junior and senior doubles, while Hugh Francis has a good chance of making the senior singles boat and Billingsley the 140-pound singles.

Actual selection of the crews is not expected until some time next week and in the meantime several of the other boys who have been working constantly may break into the list of the favored. It will be a long hard training grind for any of them who hope to pull on the oars at Coal Harbor.

In the events Victoria will be striving to retain the tuckweight fours, junior doubles and senior singles titles they won in 1933, the year of the last N.P.A.A. event.

Tommy Paul Wins Match On a Foul

Los Angeles, June 20.—Tommy Paul, former world N.B.A. featherweight champion, was awarded a victory on a foul over Freddie Miller, champion title-holder in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout, here, yesterday evening.

Paul suffered a dislocated hip as he hurled a blow from the unorthodox low blow, and the referee, Jackie Fields, awarded him the fight after it was determined he could not go on.

In accordance with the agreement, they had come in overweight. Paul weighed 129½, and the champion 127½.

SIDNEY TAKES FIRST DEFEAT

Stockers Humble League Leaders in Twilight Baseball League Fixture

Clever infield play by Murray and Harris, shortstop and second-sacker for Stockers, helped the moving men gain a 7 to 5 victory over Sidney in yesterday evening's Twilight Baseball League fixture. The verdict marked the first defeat Sidney has suffered this season, and boosted Stockers into a tie with the Sons of Canada in second place standings.

Murray and Harris handled seventeen chances without booting any, the former completing a double play unassisted.

Jones replaced McKay for Stockers in the third inning when the latter became wild, while Haley Jackson went the route for Sidney.

Stockers made all their hits count for runs and played steady ball all the way.

LEAGUE STANDING

Sidney 4 1 800
Stockers 3 2 600
Sons of Canada 3 2 600
Eagles 3 2 600
Fitter and Nex 1 3 350
Taiyos 0 3 000

Next game: To-morrow evening, Stockers vs. Eagles, Royal Athletic Park, at 8:15.

A workout of the Saanich Thistles football team will be held at the Central Park to-morrow night at 7 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

Prusoff Gains Fourth Round

Chicago, June 20.—Bryan Grant, tiny Atlanta, Ga., star, the top seeded entry in the western tennis title tournament, easily stroked his way into the fourth round of the men's singles yesterday, at the River Forest Tennis Club.

Henry Prusoff, Seattle, joined Grant in the fourth round by a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Charles Shostrom, Chicago.

GENE SARAZEN FIRST CHOICE

U.S. Star 6 to 1 Favorite to Capture British Open Golf Crown

London, June 20.—Gene Sarazen, who won the title in 1932 to-day was made a 6 to 1 favorite by the bookmakers to again win the British Open golf championship.

Benny Shute, Philadelphia, who took the 1933 crown in a play-off with Craig Wood, Deal N.J., was quoted only at 10 to 1 to wage a successful defence.

Bracketed with him was Her Cotton, British professional, who A. H. Padgham, Royal Ashdown Park, who finished seventh last year was made the second choice at 8 to 1.

Fred Perry, England's Davis Cup ace, was made the 5 to 2 favorite for the Wimbledon tennis championship, which begins the same day the open, June 25, with Jack Crawford, Australia, second choice at 4 to 1, and Frank Shields, fancied of the Americans, at 10 to 1.

ADVANCE PLAY AT C.P.R. CLUB

Norington, Sheret and Woods Take Singles Yesterday in Straight Sets

Jim Norington, K. Sheret and Reg. Wood forged ahead in yesterday evening's men's singles play in the C.P.R. Tennis Club title tournament, downing B. Gillie straight sets.

In the four doubles played, one went to an extra set, Miss Pea and A. Caddell being extended to defeat Mrs. Stewart and S. Jackson, 6-7, 5-6, 3-6.

Seven matches were billed for day, the first starting at 4:30 o'clock. Results yesterday evening and day's draw follow:

MEN'S SINGLES

J. Norington won from B. Gillie 6-0, 6-1.

R. Sheret won from P. Hendon 6-2, 6-2.

R. Woods won from G. Ford 6-4.

DOUBLES

Mrs. Ford and R. Woods defeated Miss Christopher and G. Grey 6-3.

Mrs. L. Moss and J. Clarke defeated Miss Newman and A. Knel 6-2, 6-4.

Mrs. Bourne and Miss Borrow defeated Miss Gorton and Miss Donald 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Pearce and A. Caddell defeated Mrs. Stewart and S. Jackson 5-6, 6-3.

To-day's draw follows:

New York Giants Still In Streak

National Baseball League Leaders Hand Pittsburgh 5 to 3 Setback; Paul Dean, St. Louis Pitching Ace, Drops First; Yanks-Cleveland Divide Pair

Another major league club has tried the old experiment of changing its fortunes by changing managers, and to-day the Pittsburgh Pirates had a new pilot, Harold (Pie) Traynor.

Traynor took over the managerial duties yesterday from George Gibson, who became progressively less popular with Pittsburgh fans as the Pirates' slump continued. The Bucs then went out and lost another game, their fifth straight and their eighth in nine starts, going down 5 to 3 before the league-leading New York Giants. That, coupled with Boston's 2 to 1 triumph over Chicago, put the Bucs in fifth place.

While the combination of Ed Brant's four-hit pitching and a timely home run by Randy Moore gave the Braves their decision over the Cubs, the Phillies pulled out a twelve-inning decision over the St. Louis Cardinals and Paul Dean, 10 to 8.

The last-place Cincinnati Reds won the other National League game when they defeated Brooklyn, 11 to 7.

LEADERS SPLIT TWO

The American League had a rather profitless day when Cleveland and Washington, rivals for third place, split a double-header and remained in a virtual tie. All the other clubs were idle as the Chicago-Philadelphia and Detroit-New York games were rained out and St. Louis and Boston had an open date.

The Senators won the opener, 6 to 2, but the Indians won the second, 3 to 0.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Baltimore Orioles took an easy 7 to 2 victory from Rochester Red Wings yesterday evening behind the fine pitching of Chief Moore, workhorse of the Baltimore staff.

The Orioles hopped on Johnny Michaels and Jim Winford for thirteen hits, including four home runs, a triple by Keith Molerworth and doubles by Clark and Kroner breaking the link Rochester had held over Baltimore all season.

All other league games were rained out.

DOWN---AND GOING OUT

Typical of the action in the thrill-fraught heavyweight championship bout between Primo Carnera and Max Baer is this unusual situation in the second round. It appears here that Baer is striking the champion while down. In reality the Californian is carried involuntarily forward under the force of the terrific blow with which he brought the champion down.

Director Is Now Arsenal Manager

George Allison, Associated With English Football for Thirty Years, Succeeds Late Herbert Chapman; Was Managing Director of Club

London, June 20.—George Allison, managing director of the Arsenal Football Club, has confirmed the announcement that he has accepted the position of manager left vacant by the death of Herbert Chapman.

Speaking from Ireland, he said: "I have signed a contract for the end of May and take over my duties immediately. I have resigned the managing directorship as an official of the club cannot hold a post on the board."

"I am looking forward to an even more intimate association with the club than before, and I hope to continue all the very happy relations which have always contributed so much towards the success of the Arsenal."

"Under my management the club will continue its progressive policy. Arsenal have a very high position to maintain, and we intend to maintain it. So far as paying big fees for players is concerned, we shall be guided by the necessities of the moment. We hope to continue as in the past to keep up the level of ability which is expected of Arsenal."

RADIO BROADCASTER

Born at Hurworth on Toss, near Darlington, Durham, Allison has commented on soccer football matches over the wireless since broadcast commentaries of sporting events were introduced in 1927. Although he has resigned his connection with the London office of an American organization of newspapers he will not be giving up his broadcasting work and will continue to write for certain publications.

In addition to his work as a journalist he has for thirty years been interested in and connected with the rise of association football. Associated with Middlesbrough Club in 1905 and 1906, he came to London in the latter year and became keenly interested in the Woolwich Arsenal Club, as it was then.

When the club moved from Plumstead to Highbury in 1913, Allison left about ten years and edited the official programme. He became a director eight years ago, and, following the death of Chapman in January, 1924, he was asked by his colleagues to supervise the club as managing director.

He is a member of the London F.A. Council and a member of the management committee of the London Combination. In his active days as a footballer he played full-back for the Casuals.

Pacific Travel Is Now at Its Peak

R.M.S. Empress of Japan Docked Here This Morning With 538 Passengers in All Classes From Orient and Hawaii; Business With Honolulu Shows Gain

Bringing one of the largest passenger lists she has handled for three years, totaling in all 538 in all classes, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, under the command of Capt. L. D. Douglas, berthed at the Rithet Docks at 7 o'clock this morning from Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai, Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama.

The decks of the big white liner presented a scene of great animation this morning with travelers from every section of the colorful Pacific busily engaged in continuing their vacation for rail connections and bidding adieu to friends made during the trans-Pacific voyage before going their various ways to the United States, to Great Britain and the countries of Europe—others coming home to Canada.

The first class list was largely augmented at Honolulu, where 120 passengers boarded the ship for Victoria and Vancouver. The Empress of Japan had 223 passengers in her first class cabins, 110 in the second class and 205 in the third class accommodation.

PROMINENT TRAVELERS

Prominent among the travelers arriving by the vessel to-day were Col. T. A. Ham, well-known Canadian railway expert, who for many years was identified with the Canadian National Railways, returning from an extended trip to the Far East, where he made a study of trade conditions; Bernard Guggenheim, of Kobe and New York, member of the noted mining family, who came on from Honolulu; Lady Isa Brickwood, of London, returning to England after a world tour; Richard Grew, Canadian trade commissioner, at Kobe, accompanied by Mrs. Grew, visiting Canada to report to Ottawa on trade matters; William B. Dover, general manager and producer of Twentieth Century Fox, incorporated, of Hollywood, with Mrs. Dover, back from a trip to Hawaii; C. Caro, of Capetown, South Africa, honorary consul for Poland in Cape Town, returning to London after a business trip to Japan; C. R. Fraser, representative in Japan for the Macmillan Report Company, accompanied by Mrs. Fraser, proceeding to Vancouver; H. B. Phillips, of Kobe, general manager for General Motors in the Far East, returning to London, accompanied by C. R. Carrol, also of General Motors.

Frank Pellegrino, of St. Louis, returning from Japan; Mrs. W. E. Gooch, of Yokohama, wife of W. E. Gooch, of Yokohama and Company, who is making the round trip by the Empress of Japan; J. C. Horton, of Los Angeles, a surgeon, who has been visiting the Orient for pleasure; E. T. Stille, of Canton, manager of the National City Bank of New York, accompanied by Mrs. Stille and their daughter, on a visit to the United States; J. Bentley, of Hongkong, of the Union Insurance Company, accompanied by Mrs. Bentley, proceeding to Europe on a holiday tour; E. Grimbale, of Hongkong, of Grimbale and Company, proceeding to the United Kingdom; J. A. Rabbitt, director of the International Nickel Company at Tokyo, with Mrs. Rabbitt, proceeding to New York on a business and pleasure trip; Jean de Bassompierre, of Tokyo, son of the Belgian ambassador to Japan, proceeding to his home in Belgium; G. A. Gordon, member of the United States diplomatic service, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon, returning to Washington, D.C.; Mrs. G. W. Davies and Mrs. Peggy Davies, Shanghai residents, who plan to spend a holiday in Victoria; S. M. Gillespie, member of the Imperial Chemical Industries of Britain; C. V. Kitchin, British vice-consul at Shanghai, bound to London; F. Cowherd, of the British American Tobacco Company, with Mrs. Cowherd, on a visit to England on leave; A. Loomis, of the China Realty Company, with Mrs. Loomis, visiting Canada and the United States on holiday; S. E. Levy, of the United Fruit Company, with Mrs. Levy, on a visit to the United States; A. C. Velling, Danish consul at Tientsin, with Mrs. Velling, en route to Europe; G. Duclos, manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Company at Hongkong, with Mrs. Duclos, en route to the United States; A. I. Shields, managing director of Shewan Tomes and Company, Hongkong; J. E. Von Wolzogen, Ruhr, mayor of Bandoeng, accompanied by his wife and daughter, en route to Holland, and K. E. Greig, manager of the Tailcoo Dockyard and Engineering Company at Hongkong.

NICKEL DIRECTOR

The Empress of Japan carried 3,000 tons of through general cargo and 150 tons of miscellaneous freight for Victoria, as well as 429 bags of mail to be forwarded from this port to the United States.

The ship cleared at 9 o'clock for Vancouver.

CATCHES BOAT BY MOTOR CAR

Ss. Northwestern Being Held Off Campbell River for Empress Passenger's

When Mr. and Mrs. T. Hart Fisher, of Chicago, arrived in Victoria from the Orient by the Empress of Japan at 7 o'clock this morning they were in a quandary because they had hoped to make connections at this port with the U.S. steamer Northwestern from Alaska.

The Northwestern, bound north from Seattle, left here about 4 o'clock this morning, three hours before the arrival of the Orient ship at her berth, for Alaska ports. She was heading north about the time the Japan was proceeding to quarantine.

Mr. Fisher, on arrival at the Rithet docks, sought to make arrangements for the chartering of a seaplane here in which to overtake the Northwestern, but he ultimately altered his plan to proceed by automobile up the Island Highway to Campbell River, off where he and his wife expect to board by launch the Alaska-bound steamer about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

CAPTAIN AIDS

The captain of the Northwestern was so advised by radio and he replied that he would hold his ship for the travelers off Campbell River. He will then be able to catch the steamer through Seymour Narrows by 3 o'clock.

Mr. Fisher told newspaper men that he was in a hurry to get to Alaska, as he was proceeding to Juneau in which to take some valuable nickel properties a few miles out of Juneau, in which a syndicate he represents is interested.

FEWER NORSE SHIPS IDLE

According to statistics issued by the Norwegian Shipowners' Association 178 Norwegian vessels of 567,225 tons deadweight were laid up on May 1, compared with 188 vessels of 660,594 tons on April 1. The laid-up tonnage has declined from nine, of 82,000 deadweight ton to seven, of 61,280 tons. Since May 1 a considerable number of timber carriers have been recommissioned and on May 9 the total laid-up fleet had been reduced to 153 vessels, of 538,550 tons. From April 1 to May 9 there was thus a reduction of no fewer than thirty-five vessels.

Around the Docks

COMPLETES CARGO HERE

Mrs. Rigel of the Western Lash Line expected here to-day to load 450,000 feet of lumber at the Ogden Point docks is under charter to the Intercoast Line for a voyage to London, Eng. Because of the longshoremen's strike the Rigel was idle for a month on the Columbia River. Since coming to the British Columbia Coast the Norwegian vessel has loaded at Vancouver, New Westminster and Chemainus with lumber and wheat.

FOR AUSTRALIAN LOADING

The first sailing in the Oceanic and Oriental Navigation service to New Zealand and Australia will be reached by the Ss. Golden Coast, which reached William Head yesterday evening en route to Vancouver to load cargo. The Golden Coast will list a large parcel of general at Vancouver and New Westminster for Auckland, Wellington, Melbourne and Sydney. The Golden Coast will probably follow in the B.C.-Australian service.

MOSCOW GIVES ICE WELCOME

Men of Ice-breaker Cheluskina and Aviator Rescuers Acclaimed By Russians

Associated Press

Moscow, June 20.—Members of the crew of the icebreaker Cheluskina and the seven aviators who rescued them from death on an ice floe in Bering Strait, returned to Moscow yesterday amid the thunderous acclaim of a million cheering Russians, headed by Joseph Stalin and high government officials.

The Arctic heroes left Russia last August to master a northern sea route but who came to grief when their vessel was crushed and sank by an ice floe February 13.

Stalin, followed by Minister of War Klement Voroshilov, President Maxim Litvinov and other prominent officials, headed the long procession of soldiers, sailors and workers.

The parade, in which all branches of military service were represented, passed the tribune where the aviators and 101 men, women and children who formed the Cheluskina expedition stood, garbed in the same clothes they wore when taken off the ice.

After the Russian leaders had paid homage to the heroes they mounted a terrace on Lenin's tomb and addressed the welcome were made. These speeches were transmitted to the great throng in the square through loud speakers.

Factories had a holiday in the Moscow area and working men and women joined the soldiers in the endless line which moved through Red Square.

NEW MASTER FOR JAPAN

Capt. L. D. Douglas, Holidaying, Will Turn Ship Over to Capt. Lovegrove

When the Empress of Japan, flagship of the Oriental fleet of Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd., leaves here June 30 on her outward voyage to the Orient, she will be under the command of Capt. A. V. R. Lovegrove, who will temporarily replace Capt. L. D. Douglas, the ship's regular skipper, who is going to enjoy a real holiday ashore.

John A. Moir, purser of the Empress of Japan, is also due for shore leave this trip, and will be replaced for the time being by C. B. Ross, transferred from the Empress of Russia.

Capt. Douglas smiles at the prospect of a long-anticipated holiday. He turned the bridge over to Pilot George Roberts after leaving here and after safely berthing his ship at Vancouver he will order his Number One boy to pack his personal effects and cheerfully join the army of landlubbers.

Visited Europe
Capt. Lovegrove, who is taking over the Empress of Japan, is the regular master of the Empress of Asia, and a veteran of the C.P.R. service. He has just returned from a trip to Europe and is in fine fettle for the job.

Capt. Douglas reported one of the best voyages he has ever experienced on the Pacific, the Empress of Japan logging fine weather for the entire passage.

OLD AND NEW IN JAPAN NOW

Contrast Drawn By H. B.
Suzuki, Japanese Visitor,
Before Kiwanis Club

Japan had two faces, the colorful romantic and mysterious one of La-cadio Hearn, of blossoms, geisha and Mount Fuji, and the one typified by a world power equipped with pulsant army and navy, together with press, parliament and networks of railways and ubiquitous motor and bus services, said H. B. Suzuki, Japanese representative of an eastern trading firm, in addressing the Kiwanis Club yesterday on "Japan a Century Ago and To-day."

"The keynote of Japan's civilization is that it is both very modern and very ancient," stated Mr. Suzuki.
"Like its emblem, the cherry tree, its roots lie deep in the soil, with legends thousands of years old, but its branches bear blossoms as young as spring."

OF OLD AND NEW

"It is a mysterious blend of the old and new, and therein lies the charm of the nation. It also explains why Japan is so much adored on the one hand and, on the other, criticized and suspected, sometimes even feared."

Mr. Suzuki touched on conditions in Japan before the arrival, at about the middle of the last century, of the American Commodore Perry, who "threw the whole country into a panic, revealing the helplessness of the government in a lurid light and giving an impetus to a revolutionary movement with its cry of 'Down with the Shogunate!'"

"So began the political agitation to restore the Emperor, confined in glided captivity in Kyoto, to the seat of actual power. It was a popular movement initiated, not by influential vassals of powerful clans, but by

A HAPSBURG RETURNS TO VIENNA FROM EXILE

The first member of the royal house of Hapsburg to return to Austria from exile in fifteen years, the Archduke Eugene (left), is shown in conference with Engelbert Dollfuss, Austrian dictator, soon after his arrival in Vienna. The Archduke had lived in Switzerland since the fall of the monarchy, when he refused to relinquish his imperial rights. He was greeted enthusiastically by people in Vienna.

Samurai of low rank, especially unemployed Samurai," said the speaker.
CRISIS REACHED

Previously, according to the impression left by the speaker, it was the reign of the eleventh Shogun, or feudal baron, Iyemori, that the crisis was reached which was to lead to the end of the system of military feudalism under the Tokugawa imperial regime and to the era of Meiji.

"The Shogun's harem was filled with 500 ladies and concubines, and what with nepotism and favoritism, the playing of sinister games of intrigue and counter-intrigue, and with the avarice, luxury and indolence of the officials, the expenses of the administration had reached appalling figures. Meanwhile, the burden of taxation pressing upon the peasantry had grown heavier and heavier, the number of unemployed Samurai swelled to dangerous proportions, and the fearful famines which had lasted for years on end, killed tens of thousands of luckless people, till at last the concatenation of evils culminated in the famous uprising of Oshio in 1838, which was nothing less than the revolt of an exploited official and his two-scored comrades, inciting mobs of hungry wretches to acts of pillage and plunder," the speaker said.

But under the Meiji regime, established after the downfall of the Tokugawa dynasty in 1868, western-ization went ahead at top speed, according to Mr. Suzuki.

The army and navy were reorganized, the former on the German and the latter on the British model. Officials and students were sent abroad to study western art, science and custom. A constitution was granted in 1889 and the first parliamentary session held the following year. Industry, trade and commerce were developed. The successful wars with China in 1894-95 and with Russia in 1904-5, brought the country to the front rank of the powers.

NOT JUST IMITATION
In attempting to appraise the reasons for this phenomenal growth,
Mr. Suzuki continued, observers of Japan had come to the conclusion it was due to causes deeper than mere adoption or imitation of western civilization.

"The result," he said, was a revelation that there was in old Japan the seed of culture and strength that went to make the greatness of new Japan, and that the isolation of feudal Japan, while it had done incalculable harm in retarding progress, had enabled the people for over two centuries to enjoy an uninterrupted reign of peace, so propitious to the development of native arts and crafts.

"In other words, the soul of old Japan was found to be the creator of the new, and the spirit of revolt which caused her sons to tear and destroy the Tokugawa regime was, in the last analysis, the same as the constructive genius that made the era of Meiji, for it demonstrated the national courage of action in a crisis.
"Thus, the pendulum began to swing in the opposite direction of conservative nationalism: the former attachment to the west was somewhat cooled, and the re-examination of the eastern civilization stimulated."

Quadra Streets.

The new car, a McLaughlin-Buick thoroughbred from every standpoint, has been designated the series forty McLaughlin-Buick. It includes an initial production range of models on a 117-inch wheelbase chassis of characteristic McLaughlin-Buick design and construction. The new car is powered by a ninety-three horsepower, valve-in-head straight eight engine and is capable of smooth, easy performance at all speeds.

RIDING COMFORT

In the design and construction of the new series forty McLaughlin-plished a combination of factors that have brought about a great advance in riding comfort. This combination includes knee-action wheels, balanced springing and weight distribution, ride stabilizer and air-cushion tires.

LATEST McLAUGHLIN-BUICK

SPECIAL TRUNK SEDAN OF NEW FORTY SERIES—Unusual performance and amazing economy are outstanding features of the new Series Forty McLaughlin-Buick, which has just been announced. The car is powered by a 93-horsepower straight eight engine and is a McLaughlin-Buick through and through, in spite of the fact that it invades the lower medium price bracket, being the lowest-priced automobile McLaughlin-Buick has ever built.

are outstanding features, the Mc-Laughlin-Buick forty having been designed to meet these requirements of the lower price field. At the same time, its designers have maintained all the engineering traditions of Mc-Laughlin-Buick, built up over a period of more than twenty-seven years.

The combination of high power and streamline design, with a favorable power weight ratio of 35.4 pounds per horsepower, provides unusual power flexibility throughout the driving range. The car has a second speed up to fifty-five miles an hour and can accelerate from ten to sixty miles an hour in twenty-one seconds.

While remarkable performance has been built into the new series forty McLaughlin-Buick, fuel economy has not been sacrificed. At a cruising all distinctly features of fine car construction which have produced the "McLaughlin-Buick Floating Ride."

The ride or sway stabilizer is a spring steel bar mounted at the rear end of the frame just under the rear cross-member. The twisting action set up in this bar, when one side of the car tends to rise faster than the other—as when rounding a curve or driving on a rough or crowned road—holds the car on an even keel. This prevents roll and side sway.

Starting is simplified. The driver needs only to turn on the ignition switch and step on the accelerator pedal. Vacuum spark control is a feature of the new car, which also is equipped with a vacuum selector.

A host of comfort and convenience features characterizes the bodies and interiors of the new series forty Mc-safety door locks, assist straps, carpet covered tonneau, foot rails, conveniently located ash trays, robe rails and newly designed front compartment floor mats.

PAID FINE

Duncan, June 20.—Constables S.
Service and A. Lashmar of the Duncan detachment Provincial Police, and Game Wardens Marshall and Weir raided the premises of Mrs.
Naima Bergman, Lake Cowichan, last week, with the result that she was brought before Magistrate Tisdall yesterday morning on a charge of having liquor for sale. She pleaded guilty and was fined $300 and costs, or in default three months in jail.
The fine was paid.
